

Supplemental 7.5 - Interview with Hess

"So, I heard you got to have a little fun with the new guy already." Alek asks with a smirk, having set up his second interview. The brown wolf across the table fidgets on his chair at the remark, and looks down at his erection. "And based on your reaction, am I to infer there's been another only recently?"

"Yes master," the chubby wolf replies, flustering and shifting his eyes.

"I take it then that you two are getting along in personal time just as much as when you're working in the kitchen?"

"Yes master," he says again, squirming on the chair with a cock that won't deflate. He doesn't hide it because he knows how much his master enjoys seeing him like this; embarrassed and aroused.

"I'm glad to hear you're getting along with him, it means a lot to me that you're making such a good effort."

"O'course master." Hess looks up finally. "I want him to enjoy it here."

"I think you're doing a very good job at that, making him feel comfortable and accepted. I know you said at lunch that he's working well under you, so unless you have anything more to add in that regard I'll move on."

"No master, he's good at following orders in the kitchen. I hope he'll be just as good for you." The wolf chuckles.

"Perhaps. Do you think he leans towards submissive roles then? Not that I mind having another in the house, I'm just wondering how to play it later."

"Don't matter, master, he's an enabler; and a bloody good'un."

"Interesting. So, he's adapted himself to better tease you?" Alek leans onto the desk with curiosity.

"Heh, yes master. Once he knew I liked being pushed around, he became more forceful and pinned me against the wall in the hallway. He was inside me when the clock rang and I had to come up here." The blush starts to return to Hess's cheeks.

"Very interesting." Alek grins widely. "So do you think that if the situation arose whereby he would need to be dominant or submissive, that he could and would employ that role?"

"Uh ..." The wolf thinks over the question, trying to reform the words into something more colloquial in his head. "Yes, master."

"That's exciting. I know you and Cal sometimes swap roles, but so far I've been both of your kink doms. I wonder how kinky Ember can be. Has he shown any interest in yours?"

"I don't think he knows what I like yet, master. But I'd like him to find out."

"I think you should. It will help you two bond more. Plus, who knows, perhaps he will enjoy using you in all your favourite ways."

"I like the sound of that, master." Hess bites his lip in thought.

"Just don't let his dominance come in the way of your time management." Alek grins and taps his watch, referring to him nearly being late.

“Y-yes master.” The wolf bows his head apologetically.

“Good boy.” He pushes himself away from the desk and stands up. “Alright, that’s enough chatter, let’s begin.”