

Grand Majesty

By: A.X. Bueno

Ah Mr.Lion I see you sitting there
So majestic and powerful and yet also very rare
You have those sharp fangs and lay on your rocky throne
A savannah is your typical place to roam
Though the zoo is also a place that can hold you as well
Those swell giant paws, big fangs, and nice slender tail
Your mane is also quite beautiful
Every part of you is grand without fail
You're an apex predator with which few others can compare
You have a regality that you carry with you in the air
I like you Mr. Lion and hope you'll stick around You're a lovely creature and the fact you have a day means you make an impact that's profound
Savor your day and make your happy noises even if you can't purr like your mountain siblings
You can still hum and make other noises that show that you're still happy and living
Your grand majesty Mr. Lion you've certainly earned your nickname and all the admiration people have given
King of the Jungle indeed I could gush about you for hours but I think it's time I give in I'm sure there's better people who could talk about you then some nobody like me
Enjoy the rest of your day and your hopefully long, happy life your Majesty
