

A Notable Messenger Lizard

By: A.X. Bueno

A Hispaniolan Ground Iguana

From New Jersey he comes

Meaning he doesn't really have the time like most others to admire things like the local view

He's too busy trying to make it to New York as he gets his metrocard out with clawed thumbs

Taking the teleport gate to the office building where as a courier he works

Delivering mail between building floors isn't always easy but the job has perks

Though sometimes he has to deal with tenants who act like jerks

Still he likes his job and he does it well

He's a little bit cocky but he tries not to let his head swell

He may not be a fancy chef or have magic powers like his cousin but to him that's fine

He's 7 foot 5 and a beastman from birth with his brown scales and huge tail

With the golden spikes above his spine

In his youth he played baseball but now he's just trying to handle packages without fail

A wooer of many a woman and more than a few men and beastmen who love his scaled behind

His name is Deabo

Known for many things like his intelligence or the coolness of his red bespectacled eyes

He may be part of a large family but he remains truly one of a kind

Technically old of flesh but still young of heart and mind

He's got plenty of stories to tell which can spellbind
