

Splash Into The Shadows

By Ayn BlackFox

Alex grins as he watches his screen. The X-Box 360 controller gripped tightly in hands. "Where are they?" He asked over the headset. Suddenly rapid fire gun shots ring out what seems like all around. He panics a bit and runs to behind a large truck. He pushes a few buttons and makes his character toss a grenade behind him which explodes just a few second later. He peaks from behind the truck and returns fire back the way he came watching he gains two kills to his already high kill count. He chuckles a bit as he stops to reload his gun.

He moves away from the truck and then runs down the path. He ducks in an abandoned building where the radio comes on announcing and air strike. He grins a bit and then stays in the building. He moves up the second floor and points his semi-auto rifle out the windows, looking the scope to see if there are any enemies approaching the building. It is clear. He watches as then air strike passes over and several explosions are heard just seconds later. He grins and then leaves the building.

He runs down the path until he character is shot. Alex grunts and then waits for the re-spawn. He continues the game moving the spawn point down the river. He stops at the river and then looks around a bit before throwing a grenade across the river. Nothing. Suddenly the team leader yells "Take cover" over the head set. Before he can move, the screen is cluttered with explosions and on right in front of him which kills his character. Alex grunts and then waits but the game over appears on the screen.

"Oh that is bull crap!" He slams the controller down and then shut the X-Box off. He stomps into the kitchen and then opens the fridge and then grabs a bottle of beer. He pops the top off and then drinks a bit of the golden colored drink. He sits down at the table pulling over a magazine. He flips through the magazine seeing that it's old and then closes it back.

He leaves the kitchen and goes into the front room where then TV is still on. He grabs the remote control and starts to flip the channels in hopes of finding something that is worth watching. He keeps sipping on the beer as he stops at channels showing a guy being chased by a ghost. He chuckles a bit as he watches the guy run and falls down a trap door that was in the floor. He turns the channel again and stops a romance movie where a girl with no hair is kissing a guy. He shakes his head and then turns the channel.

He stops again at channel that is playing a cartoon movie about animals in a zoo. He grins a bit and then sits down and tries to watch it. He chuckles a bit at a joke made as he drinks the rest of the beer down. He places the bottle on the floor and then sits down on the couch to finish the movie. A little buzzed he giggles at almost everything even if it was not meant to be funny. He sighs feeling better than he did a few minutes ago. He keeps watching the movie a song and dance comes and makes him burst out laughing.

After 2 minutes of straight laughing, his eyes are watery from all the crying. He holds his gut a bit feeling like he got a cramp. He pants and then calms down a bit as the movie progresses. He watches the main character, a lion, tackles the female figure of the movie, a lioness about how much he likes her that every time he dances and sings it's for her. Alex "awwws", acting like a one man audience. He even claps when then to characters hug each other. He lays down o the couch, getting comfortable.

He watches the movie still but his eyes become heavy. He yawns and then starts to drift off to the sleep, but the loud musical parts of the long move keep him awake. He exhales sharply as his eyes slowly close. The sounds of the movie fading away as he drifts off to sleep. One last exhale and Alex is fast asleep. He snores loudly as the movie ends and then channel goes off air. The small house goes quiet except for the sounds of the refrigerator cutting on and off like it normally would. The TV's auto-timer cuts off the power to the medium sized appliance.

As the night progresses, Alex sleeps silent shifting and turning on the couch. He even scratches his butt cheek and starts snoring again. He mumbles to himself about how much Medal of Hungry sucks and Call of Duty is better. He starts to snore again, knocking over the beer bottle and spilling the last bit of the beer on the rug. He mumbles a bit more about how working sucks, life sucks. He wishes he could just go somewhere he would not have to worry about working ever again. At that moment the small spot on the rug where the beer spilled turns aqua blue in color. It spreads out over the rug in a glob like fashion before turns into a circle and a portal opens up. Four large hands appear from the hole in the same color as the liquid before it. The hands moves around from the portal, knocking over left over beer can and bottles. The glass bottles rolls along the wooden floor where there is no rug until they hit the wall or each other, some shattering on impact.

The noises wake Alex up. He rubs his eyes and then looks to see the hands coming towards him. He screams and then tries to climb over the couch, still buzzed from his drink he can't move as quickly as his mind wants him to. The hand grabs his leg and makes the human gasps sharply, feeling its cold, tight grip on his bear leg. He tries to kick at the hand but the free leg is grabbed by another hand. Alex groans as the other two hands grabs his arms and torso. In a flash he is pulled off the couch and through the portal.

Alex watches as the portal closes behind him, dropping him into complete darkness. He gasps and then shivers in a bit fear, hearing evil laughter around him. He wiggles against hands seeing that he is still above ground. He gasps again as what seems like three glowing eyes are coming towards him. He keeps shivering in fear wondering who or what has grabbed him.

The area brightens slightly only letting Alex see his captor. He starts to scream but it the sound does not come out. He wiggles against the hands but they start to squeeze him. He looks at nude being and then shakes his head. "Don't eat me!" She is dark purple in color and looks like a combination of Vaporeon, Umbreon and Espeon. The jewel on her forehead glows briefly before going dim.

"Eat you? That is not what I want." She said looking at what she sees is a human. She smirks a bit. "You are a bit different from normal victims." Her voice well sounding sexy, seems have the sinister tone behind it.

"W...Who are you?" Alex asked her as he stops struggling. He gets a glare from the purple female.

"I am Madilivani but that is not important right now." She said as two more the hands appear from a puddle of water just under her feet-paws. The hands quickly strip Alex of his clothing leaving him naked in front her. Madilivani grins as she steps closer to him. Her eyes stop glowing as one of the hands turns into its normal tentacle form.

The water based tentacle curls around itself around the human's penis and slowly strokes it. The other hand also turns back to normal and then moves around and rubs against the male body softly as if it was searching him. Alex wiggles and squirms a bit as then cold tentacles work on his body, his penis quickly erecting in the sight of "Vani". He shakes his as she moves closer to him. Vani grins as he approaches him, sensing his fear is great, which only eggs her to more.

The tentacle around Alex's penis moves out the way and forms a chair under her letting Vani sit down.

She moves her feet-paws over and rubs them against the human's manhood. Alex gasps and then tries to close his legs but the hands holding them prevent him from doing so as the single that is holding his arms, locks them behind is back.

Vani keeps rubbing her feet-paws against the erection lightly grazing the shaft with her claws making the human shudder harshly. She grins, feeding off the high amounts of fear that radiates from the human. She moves her feet-paws away from the erection. He leans in and then licks at the tip of the penis, making the helpless human moan softly. She grins at the moan as two of the tentacles come around and press against the male's anus. He gasps and then groans feeling the cold, thick lengths slipping his tight passage.

Vani licks at the tip a bit more pressing her tongue against it as it before slowly taking the erection into her maw. Alex cringes a bit seeing his manhood surrounded by sharp teeth. He moans softly as his penis is engulf by the warm breath of Vani as she breathes over the tip of member before taking the member into her maw. Alex moans softly and then grunts as the tentacles slips deeply into him and another one comes around slip into his open mouth.

Alex blinks as the tentacle rubs coldly against his tongue, have a blank taste like pure water. He gags slightly as the tentacles slips deeply in his mouth, muffling his moans. He closes his eyes and just wishes it will all end, not really caring if it's pleasurable or not. His mind races thinking all the horror story of similar situations where the male is eaten after.

Vani bobs softly on the member as the tentacles work over the human's body. She pulls back a bit and then strokes the member quickly getting him to leak his salty pre. She smears the pre over the member and then goes back to suck one the member. She takes the length full into her maw, pressing her noses against his hairy crotch. She bobs over the member quickly for a few seconds getting Alex to moan louder of the tentacle in his mouth. She grins and then slowly pulls back deep mouthing the member, letting her teeth graze against the member. Alex wiggles and squirms at the feeling, whimpering muffledly over the tentacle. He gasps feeling her lightly nip at the tip.

Licking her lips, Vani moves and straddles the human as the tentacles support their combined weight. She lifts her tail up and rubs her vaginal lips against the erection. She moans softly and then moves down and slips the tip into her. She grins a bit and lifts her tail up as one long thick tentacle curls around her tail and then presses against her tail hole. He moans softly, holding a grin as she slides the human penis into her warm vaginal passage. She gasps as the tentacles slips her tail hole deeply.

She slides down the member until she touches his crotch, the helpless human blushing as he moans over the tentacle. Vani moves her hips, riding the member slowly as the penetrating tentacles start to move as well. He moans with her wide, but evil grin, hearing Alex moan weakly. She leans in a bit and pressing her clawed hands against his chest, listening as the moans become whimpers. He lightly rakes her claw down over the male's chest feeling his tense up in fear.

She pulls her hands back and keeps riding the human. She moans out a bit and sticks her tongue out as she feels herself getting close to climax. The tentacles keep working of the both of them. Alex arches his back a bit and then groans as he starts to approach his own climax. Vani grins and then rakes her claws against the male's chest again in the same manner as he before.

With a groan, Alex reaches his climax, his thick seed, squirting gently into Vani makes her gasps a bit in a slight surprise. The human squirting is new to hear. She grins and then suddenly moans out. Her body tenses up, squeezing the penis. Alex gasps and then squirts against into her. Vani groans and pants a bit as she climaxes over the length in her. She watches then human looks at her thinking it over. She holds a finger up and shakes her. She pants and then watches the off colored slime slips up the inside of the tentacles before squirting into her and the human victim. Alex groans and then gulps as he is forced to drink down the slime.

Vani grins and pulls the tentacles out of her victim. Letting them squirt against him briefly. Alex groans and then coughs a bit and spits up a bit. She dismisses all but tentacles holding her male victim. They move around hold the human up right. She moves in close to the slim covered human and presses her claws against his chest. Alex gasps shortly and then looks at her.

Her head jewel starts to glow and a portal opens up behind Alex. She chuckles and then looks back at him as her eyes starts to glow. Alex looks at her and then shakes his head in fear. "YOU"RE CRAZY!"

He laughs at him and then takes stance. "Just careful of what you wish for." She releases from the tentacles grip and then pushes him into the portal. The light around vanishes around only leaving her glowing eyes and jewel. She grins at him and then waves as the portal closes behind him.

Alex reappears and lands on his couch. He looks over his slime cover and then looks around the room. He smiles a bit. "I'M ALIVE!" He throws up the hang loose sign and cheers.