

The Cruise: Camelia
by Havoc

“Dream as if you'll live forever, live as if you'll die today.”
- James Dean

When Josh awoke on the morning of the last full day he would spend on the S.S. Charmant, the sky outside was still dim. He blinked his eyes multiple times, feeling sleep draining away from his brain, and he slowly sat up in bed and stretched his arms. He glanced at the clock, and saw that it was barely after five in the morning. Josh had woken up a full hour and a half before he'd planned to rise. Perhaps that was to be expected; he'd been so tired the previous evening that he'd begged off going to dinner with his brothers and their pokémon in order to get to bed early.

The not-quite eighteen-year-old human swung his legs over the edge of the bed and scratched his chest with a yawn. One could hardly have blamed him for his weariness. The previous day had been spent with his brother Jon's Sylveon, Akiko, and what a day that had been. In the morning, they'd worn themselves out playing around in the huge arcade on board the ship, and spent a while walking around the decks together. Then they'd gone to one of the massage parlors that the cruise ship boasted, and then...well, things had gotten quite out of hand from there.

For such a quiet pokémon...Kiki really surprised me, Josh thought to himself. His face flushed hot as he recalled the events of yesterday afternoon. The massage itself had been one thing, with a gorgeous, well-put-together Machoke masseuse giving him quite the intimate rubdown. But after that, he and Akiko had been taken to a private lounge that could only be described as a honeymoon suite, where they'd had sex three times over the course of an hour.

Stretching again, Josh stood up and went to where his suitcase was sitting open on a chair in his cabin room. He didn't bother with a shower, having taken one the previous evening before bed. He pulled on fresh clothes and then walked out into the common area of the luxury cabin suite he was sharing with his three older brothers. As soon as he opened his door, his nose was grabbed by the scent of fresh coffee. Could someone else really be up this early in the morning? He looked towards the bar area of the suite, and saw a coffee pot there that he must have overlooked the last two days. The pot was nearly full and steaming.

“Some of that would be nice,” he mumbled, yawning again.

“Help yourself.”

Josh nearly jumped out of his skin as he heard the voice coming from the low light of the living room. He looked towards one of the couches, and saw Li Xue sitting there. The Lucario was wearing a loose silken robe, and she had a mug of coffee clasped in both hands. Li Xue was looking at him with an almost imperceptible smirk of amusement.

“Scared me half to death...,” Josh groaned. He shambled groggily across the floor to the coffee pot and poured himself a cup. He raised the coffee to his lips, and inhaled some of the fragrant steam. Already he felt like he was waking up more. The first sip accomplished the task even better.

“You should be more aware of your surroundings,” Li Xue admonished him gently. She crossed her legs and gestured to the couch with one hand. “Aura brighter than before, but still dull. You will learn.”

Josh walked over and had a seat next to her with his coffee. “That was almost a compliment,” he joked. “I’m impressed.” He leaned back against the soft cushions and closed his eyes, taking another sip of hot coffee. “What are you doing up so early? As if I’m one to ask.”

“I couldn’t stay asleep any longer,” Li Xue said. “I sleep less and less as the cruise goes on. Perhaps I am eager to get back to my training.” She looked down at her cup, swirling the dark brown liquid around. “You were missed at dinner.”

The way she said that surprised Josh a little. “By who, you?”

“And Akiko. Is that so hard to imagine?” The Lucario shrugged. “You have been a source of surprise on this cruise.” She gave the barest of smiles. “Akiko told me of the day you two had yesterday. It sounded as though you had fun together.”

Josh grinned at her. “Kiki and I have always been friendly. Makes more sense than you and me, anyway.” He chuckled. “Do I hear jealousy?”

“Of course not,” Li Xue said. A little too quickly, in Josh’s mind. “I had fun the other day with you. Let us leave it at that.” She lifted her cup, and then she paused.

For a minute, Josh thought she was going to say something else, but then she shook her head fractionally and drank from her cup. He watched her for a few minutes, trying to figure out the expression on her face. Maybe he was just fooling himself. He’d had a crush on Li Xue for the longest time, but never in his life did he ever think he’d have a shot at her until the other day. He knew she was absolutely devoted to his brother Robby. But could she maybe have developed a soft spot for him? Surely not, and yet he was feeling like there was something there.

“I was just kidding,” Josh said sheepishly, just to have something to break the awkward silence. He rubbed the back of his head, feeling a little embarrassed. He’d just gotten on good terms with Li Xue, and teasing her seemed a bit unfair of him.

Li Xue shook her head and shrugged. “It’s alright,” she said. “You are young, and I was your first. I understand.” She smiled at him. “It’s actually rather...hm...cute, I suppose. You remind me of Robby when he was much younger.” She leaned forward and set her coffee cup down on a low table in front of the couch. Then, abruptly, she stood up. “Would you care to come outside with me? There is something you should see, at least once, before the cruise ends.”

“Huh?” Josh stared at her for a few seconds, and then he got up too. “Oh, uh...sure.” He followed Li Xue as she led him out of the cabin suite. She drew her robe tighter about her body against the slight chill of the early morning air. The front door of their suite opened right onto the deck of the ship, near the midsection. Outside, the sky was just starting to lighten, the deep blue and purple of dawn starting to dot with splotches of orange and pink. The only people out seemed to be crew members, maintenance staff who were tidying up the decks here and there before the majority of the passengers woke up.

Li Xue led Josh towards the aft of the ship, and they began climbing several flights of stairs. The Lucario seemed to have a very specific destination in mind, but Josh was clueless as to what it could be. He wondered if they were heading to the very top deck. He hadn't been there yet, and knew it contained a large swimming pool and sundeck.

“Where are we going?” he asked Li Xue, after she turned off from the stairs before they reached the top.

“Patience,” she scolded him. “You will know soon.” She showed him through a door which led back out into the open air. They were at the exact aft of the ship, now, on what he thought was the second level from the top. They were very high above the water now, and in front of Josh was a long, wide observation deck that looked like it extended over the rear deck of the ship.

“Wow...,” Josh said. The view was incredible. During the night, the ship had turned around, and they were heading back towards Coumarine City. The surface of the sea was still dark, but in the lightening sky he could see the Azure Islands against the horizon, standing prominently in the expansive bay.

Li Xue walked with him up to the railing of the observation deck, and she placed her hands on the rail, leaning forward against it. “Stand here, and watch,” she said. “Keep your eyes on the islands.”

Josh stood right next to her, staring out at the islands. The sky was getting steadily lighter, and he waited with her, excitement rising in his chest for the unknown that was to come. As they both watched, a cool breeze blowing gently around them, the sun suddenly sprang up over the top of the islands. Josh's eyes were dazzled by the light, but he resisted the urge to close them. As the sun slowly rose higher, the rays of light illuminated the rocky islands, and soon made the surface of the water sparkle like a million little diamonds. His mouth dropped open at the beauty of it. Soon, bird pokémon rose up from the islands, a flock of many Wingull that began to fly towards the ship. Josh raised his head and watched the flock fly over the ship, heading inland.

"Isn't it marvelous?" Li Xue asked him, her eyes shining in the light. Josh looked over at her and saw that she was smiling widely, her face more animated than he had ever seen it before. His cheeks glowed with warmth as he saw how beautiful she looked at that moment. The sight made his heart thud against the inside of his chest.

"It's gorgeous," he said. He wasn't sure at that moment whether he was referring to the view over the water.

Li Xue took a deep breath of the fresh morning air, closing her eyes as the warmth from the sun bathed her face. "Robby showed me this the first time I came on the cruise," she said with a sigh. "I wouldn't miss it, ever. I have never felt so at peace at any other time in my life. It is sublime."

"Yeah," Josh agreed. He looked back out at the water, and at the sun, which was now fully over the islands and climbing steadily higher into the sky. The flock of Wingull was still passing overhead, the rustling of their wings audible over the sound of the ship gliding through the waves. He looked down at the bay, his hands tightening their grip on the railing.

Josh then turned to face Li Xue, who was still looking up at the birds. Before he knew what he was really doing, he let go of the rail and put his hands on her shoulders. The Lucario gave a little gasp as he drew her in, and then he pressed his lips to hers. He felt her tense up as he kissed her, his hands sliding around her back and pulling her against him. Li Xue's palms came up to his chest, pushing gently, but Josh persisted, holding her firmly. She made a little noise, like she was about to say something, but then she relaxed into him and returned his kiss. Her canine tongue slipped inside his mouth and she leaned against his body, her breasts pressing against his chest as she slid her arms around his midsection.

After several long minutes, Josh broke the kiss. Li Xue looked up at him, the expression in her eyes seeming a mixture of confusion and longing. She looked away from him, back out at the water. Josh felt some of his senses return to him in the moments of awkward silence that passed between them.

"Sorry...", he finally said. He knew the rules of the cruise. Everything here was supposed to be casual, supposed to be fun. But that kiss he'd just given her had been anything but. She'd have every right to be angry at him, now.

"No, I...", Li Xue began, and then she stopped. She looked out at the islands for a moment more, and then she turned her head back to look at him. "Don't be sorry." She hugged him again, the side of her face against his chest. Her short, crooked tail wagged a few times. "I know what you want me to be, but I can't be that to you. I have Robby."

Josh's heart sank, even though he'd already known that. That didn't make it hurt any less. Life didn't seem fair right then. "I know..." he mumbled, unable to keep the dejection out of his voice. "Sorry if that doesn't make me feel any better."

Li Xue looked up at his face with a smile. "I know that, too." She squeezed him once. "First loves are often painful. Such is life. If things had been different..." She paused. "No, that would be unfair of me to say. I don't wish to make you feel worse."

"Yeah," Josh replied. He shook his head. "I'm sure I'll get over it...eventually."

"Get over me, you mean," Li Xue laughed.

"Right..."

She let go of him, holding one of his hands in hers and squeezing it. The Lucario took one last look out at the rising sun and then stepped away from the railing. She tugged him along with her, back towards the door that would take them into the ship again. "Come," she said to him. "We still have a few hours before the others wake. There is time."

They walked together back through the ship and to the front door of their suite. Li Xue led him through the living and back to his room. Once they were behind the closed door, she helped Josh out of his clothes and made him lie down on the bed. She tugged the tie of her robe free, and let it fall down around her feet. Li Xue climbed on to the bed, straddling his waist between her thighs.

"Once more, to hold you over until next year..." she said, and she lowered herself, leaning down to kiss him as he slid into her waiting depths.

Later in the morning, when everyone had risen for real, this time, Josh and his brothers, and their pokémon, went to breakfast together. Everyone apart from Josh and Li Xue seemed perfectly well-rested. During the conversation over their morning meal, nothing was said of their encounter at dawn. Though everything during the cruise was done in the open, there was an unspoken agreement between Li Xue and Josh that that morning was to remain a secret. That seemed just fine with him. He knew that things between him and the Lucario wouldn't ever be the same. He figured he'd always have a crush on her, but for the first time he thought it was something he could handle. They'd always have the cruise, after all.

When they all began to go their separate ways for the day, Josh was about to head back to the cabin to freshen up when he was pulled aside by Tom, his oldest brother. "Josh, bud," he said, clapping him on the shoulder. "Got something to ask you."

"Wait, wait," Josh said. He closed his eyes, putting a hand over them and making a show of thinking hard. "Let me guess. You made plans for the day. You need me to...need me to...Damn, I know

I can guess this.” He lifted his hand, and opened his eyes. “You need me to look after Camelia today.”

“You’re psychic, bro!” Tom said, breaking into laughter. He hooked a hand around Camelia’s waist and pulled the shiny Lopunny against him. “Camelia wanted to spend some time at the pool today, since it’s the last day and she hasn’t had a chance yet. I’ve got plans to go down to the lounge with Robby and Li Xue. They tell me there’s this Gardevoir singer down there that I just have to hear.” He leaned over and kissed Camelia on her cheek. “Mind going to the pool with Camelia? We’ll probably be occupied all day, at least until dinner.”

Josh smirked. “Yeah, I can just imagine. I heard her sing the first day we were here. She’s something else.” He sketched a mock salute at his older brother. “You can count on me, buddy.”

“Alright!” Tom said. He slapped Josh’s shoulder again. “I’ll leave you two to it, then.” He leaned down to whisper in his youngest brother’s ear. “Be careful with Camelia. She’s a handful.” He took the Lopunny’s hand and placed it in Josh’s, and left him with a smile.

He watched his brother walk off, and felt warmth rising in his cheeks. He looked over at Camelia, who was bouncing on her heels. The Lopunny was the most overtly sexual pokémon that any of his brothers owned, or even that Josh had ever met. And she was a bombshell, curvy in all the right places and full-breasted. Even a guy who wasn’t into pokémon would have a hard time resisting her feminine charms. However, she was also way out of his league, and she knew it, so he figured he didn’t have much to worry about. If the day went like he imagined it would, he’d just be sitting by the edge of the pool while Camelia frolicked about and enjoyed herself.

“Okay...,” he said. He let go of Camelia’s hand. “Back to the cabin, I guess. If we’re going to the pool, I need to grab my swimsuit.”

The topmost deck of the S.S. Charmant was the last place that Josh had left to visit, having been nearly everywhere else the previous two days with Li Xue and Akiko. Once he got there, he realized that it was a lot more expansive than he had expected. Though the top deck was the smallest on the ship, nearly the entire length of it was covered by a massive swimming pool, made in the shape of a Wailord and filled with crystal-clear, sparkingly cool water. The pool was deep in some areas, shallow in others, and at various places around it there were steps that led down into the water. Around the pool was a flat, smooth wooden deck covered with beach chairs. It was in one of these that Josh lay, shirtless and wearing his swim trunks, his arms behind his head and sunglasses on his face as he dozed in the glow of the late morning sun. This was what he had previously imagined a cruise to be like, at least a normal one. He was enjoying himself, finding this to be a refreshing change of pace from the hustle and bustle of the erotic vacation that the S.S. Charmant offered. It was completely unlike anything he’d experienced on the cruise before.

At least, it would have been, if not for what was going on in the pool. Josh glanced down his feet at the water in front of him, where Camelia was splashing about. He'd figured that the Lopunny would have had some kind of provocative number to wear while swimming, but he hadn't been prepared for what she'd emerged from her and Tom's cabin in. The brown-and-pink furred lapine pokémon was sporting a swimsuit that could only technically be called a one-piece. Made of sheer, almost see-through black fabric, the suit was cut the exact opposite of conservatively. Two straps held the suit up on Camelia's shoulders, and the tops of her voluptuous breasts were covered to where her nipples were just barely concealed. The rest of the suit was cut open down her front, the open space revealing the undersides of her breasts and going down until just above the cleft of her thighs, where the black started again. The suit was cut high on her wide hips, and the back left little to the imagination. Her cottony pink tail was free, along with the tops of her plush buttocks, and the suit was completely backless, though her sides were covered.

She's the hottest thing on this ship right now..., Josh thought to himself, lifting his sunglasses to get a better view. When they'd arrived at the pool, Camelia had made a beeline for the water and jumped in, leaving Josh at the edge while she began swimming about. She seemed to be having the time of her life on her own. He wasn't much for swimming, so he had taken a chair near where she was playing around, so that he could keep an eye on her. He wasn't the only one, either. A lot of guys were watching the Lopunny just as intently as Josh, and more than a few had approached Camelia. She didn't seem interested, though, and had politely rebuffed all of their advances.

Josh had started to doze again, an hour or so into their stay at the pool, when a quiet trill caught his attention. He opened his eyes and looked at the pool. Camelia was there, her arms up on the edge, looking at him with her head tilted to one side. Water dripped down her fur, which was slicked to the contours of her body. She'd tied her ears back with a pink ribbon before coming to the pool, so that water wouldn't drip into her eyes. Josh sat up on his chair, taking his sunglasses off.

"What's up?" he asked her. "Everything okay?"

Camelia nodded her head, her reddish eyes blinking several times. She extended a hand to him and gestured to the pool, opening her mouth with a questioning churl. She sounded like she was asking him if he was going to swim, too.

The human smiled and shook his head. "Nah, I'm fine up here, Camelia," he said. "You have fun! Don't worry about me."

The Lopunny's ears raised a little, and she frowned a bit. Then she smiled once more, and dipped her hand into the water. All of a sudden, she flung her hand up, splashing water all over Josh before he realized what was happening. The shock of the cold water after being in the sun for so long made him yelp in surprise, and he sat straight up, shaking droplets out of his hair. Camelia laughed at his reaction, and trilled in a teasing way. She was trying to goad him into jumping into the pool after her.

Wiping his face, Josh smirked at her. "Nice try, but I'm not that easy to trap," he said. "Gonna have to do better than that!"

Camelia drooped a little, and then she grinned. She lowered herself into the water, until all Josh could see of her was the tops of her ears. Then she pulled herself up by the edge of the pool, and Josh saw that her cheeks were bulging like a Pachirisu's with water. He raised his arms to cover his face, but not before she spat a quick stream right at him, drenching his face and chest with pool water. She hopped up and down in the pool, her breasts bouncing as she laughed even harder than before.

Despite himself, that gesture riled Josh up. "Okay, Camelia, you asked for it!" He got up from his chair and stepped quickly to the edge of the pool. The Lopunny's eyes widened and she retreated as he jumped into the water. He wasn't the strongest of swimmers, but he could keep himself afloat and paddle with the best of them. He chased after Camelia, splashing water at her in retaliation. They went around the pool in a small circle, and soon he was as soaked as she was, breathless and laughing. She was just as energetic as Akiko had been in the video arcade. It seemed like the pool was Camelia's domain, like the arcade was Akiko's and the lounge, Li Xue's.

They played around for a while, chasing each other and trying to dunk each other's head under the water. Camelia was successful a lot more than he was, though he managed to get a few good shots in. The Lopunny seemed more interested in grabbing him and pulling him under the water with her. Josh found himself getting increasingly flustered as their battle went on. She had a habit of wrapping her arms around his body, and more than once he found his face smooshed against her breasts. She was athletic, like Li Xue, from all her experience battling, but her body felt a lot softer than the Lucario's. And she had the distinction of being inches taller than he was, also unlike Li Xue, being of much more than average height for a Lopunny.

After she got him under the water for the fifth time, Josh came up gasping for breath and waving his arms. "Okay, okay, time!" he called out, laughing. "You win, Camelia, you win! I give!" He pushed himself away from the pokémon, paddling over to the edge of the pool. Camelia followed him, giggling as he pulled himself out and sat on the edge with his feet hanging in the water.

Camelia was all smiles as she floated in the pool in front of him, her hands on his knees as she kicked her legs gently under the surface. Josh smirked down at her. Up until now, she had always treated him like a little brother, that annoying little brother who one liked but tried to keep away from as much as possible. Maybe she was just making the best of having to be away from Tom, but she did seem like she was enjoying herself.

“I dunno how Tom keeps up with you,” Josh said, still a bit breathless. “He was right, you are a handful!”

Camelia smiled wider at him, trilling in a singsong way. She surprised Josh next by pushing herself up with her hands on his knees, rising out of the water until her head was level with his. Before he realized it, she had her lips pressed against his, kissing him in a sensual way that he had never experienced before. Not even the intimate kiss he'd shared with Li Xue earlier that morning. He was surprised by the ferocity of it, by the way that her tongue forced its way into his mouth. Josh had known, from talking to Tom, that Camelia was definitely a dominant sort of lover, but he would have never expected her to be so forward with him. She leaned against him, and he leaned back, having to use his elbows to keep himself from falling flat on his back on the edge of the pool.

“Wh-Whoa...,” he gasped, as she finally let him come up for air. “I...uh...damn, Camelia...” Josh was at a loss for words.

The Lopunny batted her eyes at him. The unexpected, raw expression of lust on her face was more than he had ever experienced before. It suddenly occurred to him that Li Xue and Akiko had probably confided in their experiences with him to her, and now he was starting to wonder if Tom's request to him hadn't been all her idea in the first place. Maybe she had figured that it was her turn to see what he could do.

Camelia slowly slid back down into the pool. As she went down, her hands grabbed the waistband of his swim trunks. With a firm tug, she dragged them off and down his legs, pulling them off his feet. She placed his swimsuit on the edge of the pool next to him. Josh was suddenly completely naked, out in the open. He felt his heart skip a beat, and he almost grabbed them to cover himself back up before he remembered where they were. This was the S.S. Charmant, after all, and nudity in the open was not exactly an uncommon thing. Josh looked around the pool. Now that he took the time to look, he saw that he wasn't the only naked one. There were humans, male and female, swimming naked in the pool, and pokémon were going about without swimsuits on as well, though that wouldn't have been as unusual. Many humanoid pokémon never wore clothing at all.

His attention was drawn back down as he felt the Lopunny's slender fingers on his cock. Camelia was staring at his manhood with a hungry expression, and he saw her pink tongue flick out over her full lips. He was quickly swelling to full erection, though he had already been semi-there from watching Camelia earlier. She leaned in and nosed his member, and he couldn't keep a low groan from escaping his lips.

“Fuck, Camelia...,” he breathed. “Right here?” He looked around again. Nobody seemed to be paying them any attention, but all someone would have to do would be to look over and they'd get an eyeful of what was going on.

The Lopunny trilled, her voice husky, and then she opened her mouth and sucked his tip between her lips. He moaned and tilted his head back as she swirled her tongue around the head of his cock, taking her hand away as she slid further down his shaft. She kept going until he felt his cock brush the back of her throat, and then she went further still. He felt himself slide into her gullet, and she swallowed around him, her throat muscles clenching around his thick length. His hips bucked up, and she laughed quietly, a little moan of her own making her vibrate around him.

Camelia began to move her mouth back and forth on his erection, and he looked down at her, watching her in the water. Her upper body was above the surface, and he could see right down her back to the swell of her ass. She was bent over him, her rear pushed out, and the water was rippling as she sucked his length in and out of her maw. She was making lewd slurping sounds as she worked her lips over his rigid iron, sending shockwaves of pleasure up his spine. He could barely control himself, and his hips began moving back and forth, thrusting along with her bobbing head.

“Damn,” he gasped, his balls tightening up. Josh already felt like he was about to shoot his load right down her throat. She was amazing at what she was doing, and he knew that she knew it. She was watching him, her eyes turned up to meet his, and he could see the glee twinkling in those ruby red orbs. Camelia wanted him to cum in her mouth, he was sure of it. She was greedy for it, and her tongue slid along the underside of his shaft. She was practically begging for it.

His hand shot to the back of her head, and he pulled her tight against his crotch, choking out a yell as his cock jerked in her mouth. Camelia closed her eyes as the first burst of his cum splashed against the back of her throat, and she moaned, her lips parting and letting some of his seed drool out around the base of his shaft. Josh drenched her tongue over and over, bathing her lips with his cum, his hips lifting his rear off the edge of the pool as he groaned and laid back flat on the deck.

The Lopunny held him in her mouth, keeping him there until the last pulse of his semen spurted weakly onto her tongue, and then she slowly slid him out. Josh managed to push himself back up, looking down at her and seeing her open mouth, full of the milky white of his seed. He was gasping for breath, unable to think of anything to say to her. She winked at him, and then she pushed herself out of the water and sat down firmly on his lap. His still-rigid cock pressed against her ass as she leaned in and kissed him full on the lips. Josh's eyes widened as he felt her push his own cum into his mouth, and out of reflex he swallowed. The salty taste assaulted his tongue, and he groaned at the sheer wrongness that made his cock swell even more. Camelia chuckled, sharing his load with him. She leaned back from his face, a milky strand of cum connecting their lips until she closed her mouth, swallowing what was left.

“Holy shit...,” Josh gasped. He had never felt something so purely erotic as that. Something came over him in the moment. He wrapped his arms around Camelia and pushed her down facefirst on the deck, eliciting a squeal from her as he pulled the bottom of her swimsuit to the side. Her pussy was swollen with arousal and glistening wet in the sun, her pink petals open in invitation.

Without giving her a chance to adjust to a more comfortable position, Josh came around behind her and thrust his cock into Camelia to the hilt, his hips connecting with hers with a wet slap. The Lopunny squealed in delight as he pushed her roughly against the deck of the ship, and she pushed back against him. Her cottony tail was wagging back and forth madly, and she scrabbled at the damp surface of the deck with both hands, looking for purchase. Josh kept one hand on her waist, and with his other he grabbed her tied-back ears, using them like reigns as he began to thrust in and out of her rapidly. He could hear bystanders exclaiming in surprise as he fucked Camelia, some of them even cheering him on as he claimed the Lopunny like she was his own. He barely paid attention to them, instead focusing on getting his cock as deep as he could inside the pokémon.

Camelia rocked back against each of his thrusts, her face gleeful as her trainer's youngest brother mated her like an animal. Her breasts were flat against the deck, the material of her swimsuit rubbing back and forth against her nipples, sending tingle all along her front from the rough pleasure. She moaned repeatedly, disjointed phrases of lust in her own language, as he sliced his cock through her treasured depths. She was already cumming, her pussy milking and clenching at his manhood, and yet he was relentless in plowing her. She wondered at how he could have the energy for this, having cum so recently, but he seemed as energetic as ever. She reached back with one hand and placed her hand on his shoulder, pulling forward and egging him on.

Before long, Josh could feel that surge of pleasure rising up in him again. He grit his teeth and tilted his head back, and then he shouted as he buried his cock far inside of the Lopunny. He began to cum again, flooding her depths with his heated seed. She pushed her rump back, grinding down on him and voicing bliss as his cock pulsed inside of her. Camelia laid her head down on the deck, moaning loudly with her eyes closed as those warm bursts drenched her womb.

Finally, after his cock began to ache with exertion, Josh gasped and gingerly pulled back from Camelia. His cock slid out of her and he watched as his cum drizzled out of her used pussy. He slid back into the water of the pool, his eyes wide at what he had just done. For a minute, he panicked. He wondered if he had hurt Camelia in his eagerness to get what he wanted, but then he saw her push herself up on her hands and turn to face him. She had a look of pure happiness on her face. The Lopunny reached out and grabbed him by the shoulders, pulling his face against her belly as she nuzzled the top of his head, trilling and purring with delight.

“Fuck...,” he murmured, relieved. “Camelia, you're fucking wild. I can't believe I just did that.” She chuckled and rubbed his back, and she lifted him out of the water to sit on the deck next to him. She held him against her shoulder, one hand rubbing up and down his thigh.

A moment later, a shadow cast itself over the two of them. “Quite the show,” a male voice said from out of nowhere.

Josh looked up to see a man, a bit older than his brother Tom, standing behind him and Camelia. He was tall, with blonde hair and brown eyes, and a tan that suggested he spent a lot of time outdoors. Standing with him, slightly behind, was a taller, red-feathered Blaziken. She was dressed in a very skimpy two-piece swimsuit of a brilliant purple shade that seemed about two sizes too small for her. Her fiery breasts were nearly bursting the clasp at the front of the top. She seemed familiar to Josh. He suddenly realized that he had seen her before. They'd walked past each other yesterday, when he was going to breakfast with his brothers. He was certain that she was the same Blaziken. She was looking down at him, a little smile tugging at the corners of her beak.

“Sorry if I startled you,” the human said, rubbing the back of his head. “My name's Zane, and this is Safara.” The Blaziken nodded her head in greeting. “We're vacationing from Sinnoh. We, uh...we heard about this cruise and thought it would be nice to be somewhere we could be a bit more...you know...out in the open.”

“Uh...Uh...,” Josh stammered, still reeling from the experience he'd just had. “Uh, yeah. Nice to meet you. I'm Josh, and this is Camelia.” He looked around for his swimsuit, and saw it sitting on the deck a few feet away. He reached over and hurriedly tugged it on, while Camelia adjusted her own suit, in no hurry compared to him. “I think I've seen you around. What's up?”

“Well, like I said,” Zane began. “Um...Safara and I were sitting over there, watching.” He seemed sheepish, clearly as unaccustomed to the protocol of the cruise as Josh himself was. “We, um...Man, this seems really awkward, so sorry if I sound like a goof. Uh, we were wondering if...if you two would be interested in...and feel free to say no...if you would be interested in...” He paused, until Safara nudged him with her elbow. “If you'd maybe be interested in coming back to our cabin with us?”

Josh blinked, taken aback. “Um...For real?”

“Yeah, well...” Zane swallowed, clearly nervous. Safara, on the other hand, was looking eagerly at Josh. “I mean, this is kinda Safara's idea, but I'm up for it. I think...well, she'd like to spend a little time with you, if you get my meaning. And, um...I wouldn't mind getting to know Camelia, here.” He smiled down at the Lopunny. “That is, if you two are interested.”

Dumbfounded, Josh looked at Camelia. She was smiling, and he watched as she looked up at Zane, evaluating him. The Lopunny bounced up and down with her hands in her lap, turning her eyes back to Josh and nodding her head emphatically. This was way beyond him, but...the more he looked at Safara, the more he remembered the view of her rump he'd had the day before. And truth be told, if he hadn't been asked to hang out with Akiko yesterday, he'd had every intention of trying to find her anyway. Now it looked like he was about to have that chance.

"Ahhhhh, looks like Camelia is up for it," Josh said, finally smiling. He stood up with the Lopunny, and shook Zane's hand. "Uh...lead the way, I guess."

That was how Josh found himself laying on his back on the bed in Zane's cabin, a foot to the side of Camelia as he looked down at Safara, who had shed her bathing suit and was enthusiastically working her beak over his throbbing cock, stretched out on her belly at his feet. Her mouth was hot, nearly scalding, which made sense for a fire-type. On his left, Zane was between the Lopunny's thighs, thrusting his member slowly in and out of Camelia's pussy, taking his time with her. Camelia had her legs wrapped around the other man's waist, her hips rising up and down as he fucked her. The whole situation seemed surreal to Josh, but he wasn't complaining. Safara was gorgeous, and she had a talent with that beak of hers. At first he'd been nervous about it, seeing the sharp avian's mouth as a good way to have his penis shredded, but Zane had assured him she was careful, and he was glad he'd believed him.

Safara looked up at Josh with her blue-and-yellow eyes, and she clucked lustily. His breasts were pressed against his legs, and they were definitely bigger than Camelia's. To be honest, it was kind of erotic to hear the moans of the couple next to him as Safara licked him with her tongue and teased his flesh with her beak.

His cock still overly sensitive from his round with Camelia, Josh decided that he didn't want to cum so fast this time. He gently put a hand underneath Safara's chin and lifted it up. She looked at him questioningly, and he smiled at her.

"I don't want to finish too soon," he explained to her. "And the way you're going, it'll be over in two minutes. Let me take control for a little bit..."

Safara blinked, and then she nodded her head and climbed over Josh. She pecked his cheek with a small kiss, and then they switched places. The powerful Blaziken spread her legs wide, and Josh settled down where she had been, gazing at her steamy, soaked pussy. She placed a hand on the back of his head, immediately banishing any illusion he might have had of taking control. Josh let her guide his face down to her cunt, and he kissed her nether lips tenderly. She had a spicy flavor that went well with the sheer heat of her sex.

With a voracious appetite, he dove into her pussy. Safara laid back and moaned as he slipped his tongue inside of her, squirming his oral muscle in her depths. Though she was a lot larger than Camelia, she also seemed to be a lot tighter. He had to work hard to get inside, and once he was in, her inner passage squeezed his tongue hard enough that there was a real fear she would pinch it off. He had to laugh at that. He put his hands on her inner thighs and spread them further, pressing his lips against her pussy as he licked at her. She brought her hands up to her feathered breasts, squeezing them as she reveled in the strange human's attention to her treasure.

"Wow...", Josh said, as he lifted his head up after a few minutes. The heat was almost too much for him, and he needed to give his tongue a rest before it burned. Safara whimpered, insistently trying to push his head back down.

Next to him, Zane chuckled. "She's hot, isn't she?" he quipped. He leaned down and planted a kiss on Camelia's lips, thrusting deep into her and rotating his hips around. The Lopunny churled, wrapping her arms around his back and pushing up against him in return.

"Yes, very," Josh had to agree. He gave Safara a parting kiss on her pussy, and then he pushed himself up on his arms. He couldn't wait any longer, and he had to be inside of her. Seeing that he was ready, Safara beamed and rolled over, getting on all fours and sticking her rump up in the air. Josh came up to his knees, and placing his hands on her ass he rubbed his cock against her pussy. To his surprise, Safara shook her head and pulled away from him. For a moment, Josh thought she was having a change of heart, but she was still looking back at him with desire, and her rear was swaying from side to side teasingly. The Blaziken definitely wanted him.

"I don't think you're giving her what she wants," Zane said, stifling a groan. He reached over to Safara, and Josh watched as he touched a fingertip to her puckered tailhole. Safara moaned as he pressed his fingertip just inside, and she bucked back against him. "Safara is a kinky girl, if you get my drift."

His eyes widening, Josh felt a thrill of excitement. This was almost too much, but who was he to refuse the wishes of a lady? Approaching again, he wrapped his hands around Safara's waist and then pressed the tip of his cock against her ass. This time, Safara pressed back against him, and he gasped as he watched his cock slip inside of her tailhole. If her pussy had been hot, then her ass was searing. He nearly pulled back as he felt that burning heat against his sensitive member, but he fought the instinct and pushed deeper into the Blaziken's ass.

Camelia watched to the side as she saw Josh enter Safara's rear, and she moaned more loudly. While Zane rocked her body with more powerful thrusts, she leaned over to the side and put a hand to the back of Safara's head. The Lopunny tilted her own head and captured the other female's beak with her muzzle, trilling as she kissed Safara, her other hand coming underneath her body to fondle her breasts. Safara seemed surprised, but she didn't resist, and leaned into the kiss.

The sight lit an inferno inside of Josh, and he started up a quick rhythm of thrusting into Safara, feeling her tight ring clenching around his cock. She was moaning into Camelia's mouth, one of her feathery palms cupping the Lopunny's breast. Camelia squealed as Safara pinched her nipple, her eyes snapping wide open in delight. Josh smiled, and then he closed his eyes and focused on the feelings coursing through his body. This was raunchy, raw, and would have been wrong in any other context, but the idea of fucking another man's lover while he watched had him forgetting everything he'd known about proper etiquette.

Beside him, Zane was gritting his teeth, his hands underneath Camelia's ass as he sat up on his haunches, driving his cock in and out of the Lopunny. Her breasts were heaving up and down as he took the lapine pokémon, and the bed was shaking enough that the headboard was smacking the wall behind it. He looked over at Safara, and saw the look of pure bliss on his mate's face. That was enough to push him over the edge, and he'd groaned aloud as he hilted inside of Camelia, his balls tightening up as he unloaded what felt like every drop of cum he'd ever produced in her.

On the other side, Josh was getting closer to climax, the tightness of Safara's ass growing to be too much to stand. He hooked his forearms around his hips, pulling himself into her and thrusting deep and quick. He could feel the scald of the Blaziken's pussy against his balls, and he hissed between clenched teeth as he fought the inevitable. As soon as he heard Safara's cry of ecstasy, he couldn't stand it any longer. As her tailhole clenching hard around his cock, he pulled out of her and then shoved himself back in. His shaft throbbing and kicked inside of her, and he shot deep into her forbidden passage. The Blaziken left scorch marks on the pillow as she grabbed onto it, burying her face into the soft surface as she clucked loudly in joy. The room echoed with the foursome's voices, until Josh was certain that not a soul on the cruise ship was unaware of what was going on...

The next day, late in the afternoon, Josh finally finished loading the last of the group's suitcases onto the Coumarine City cable car. He still couldn't keep a smile off of his face. His mind was full of the memories of what he was sure would forever be the best vacation of his life. He knew he would probably sleep for a week straight when they got home, but it had all been worth it. Josh couldn't wait until next year, when he would surely be bringing his own pokémon on the cruise with his brothers.

Josh sat down as the cable car began to move, choosing a seat in between Li Xue and his brother Robby. He leaned back with his head against the window, looking up at the ceiling of the car.

He wondered what next year would be like. Maybe he'd find someone new to spend the cruise with, or maybe he'd look for familiar faces. Camelia, Akiko, and Li Xue would all be there, of course, and it seemed like they all were a little closer to him than they'd been when the cruise began.

"So, bro," Tom said, sitting across the car with Camelia in his lap. "What did you think? How was your first trip on the Charmant?"

"Awesome," Josh said, that goofy grin still on his face. "I can't wait for next year."

All three of his brothers laughed. "I hear ya," Jon said. "I was the same way after my first trip. You'll be counting the days until next year, trust me." He rubbed Akiko's head, scratching the Sylveon behind the ears as she hummed pleasantly.

"Always seems a shame to leave," Robby agreed. He leaned forward to look at Li Xue. "Back to the daily grind, eh, Li?"

"Indeed," the Lucario said. She had her nose in a book again, not interested in the view outside of the cable car. She seemed to be back to her serious, focused self now that the cruise was over. But, she spared a glance over at Josh, and he saw the barest hint of a smile on her face. She gave him a little nod. "Brighter, now."

It certainly felt that way to Josh.