

Set it on Fire

Created by: ChainedBirds

This story contains:

- Vaginal sex
- Straight
- Fire Pokémon

[It's a nice day, glamorous sun, soft wind, fresh and green greens all where the eyes could see in an open field were mankind just started to coexist with Pokémon and other animals...]

Rapidash [♂]: Eating some green grass moving to another side where it had more, swinging my tail from left to right scaring flies from my heavy muscular legs...

Arcanine [♀]: Today was a beautiful day, a day that any Pokemon would find extremely relaxing. Not for me. I stayed hidden under the trees, away from the Sun. Due to my fire-type, I felt the sun more than most creatures, but usually it wouldn't bother me. For the past couple of days I have been feeling frustration and longing... and it would not disappear. It stayed with me like a virus, and there was no lakes around to cool me off.

I walk towards a farm, with senses alert for protective Farmers, but I needed to visit somewhere where there was sure to be water. I stood at the edge of the forest, the last bit of trees, panting from the heat of the blazing sun, and scanned the farm for danger.

Rapidash [♂]: I kept my fire as cold as possible next to my hooves as I didn't want to ruin the grass I was eating, it was a common day for me, not much to do more than fill my stomach with some clean energy, my vigorous body needed as much energy as possible, my maturity was raising and soon I would need to find a partner and continue the common life cycle.

There was nothing in my agenda so... not much to do... not more worries than... just eat my food... And I think close to that house there are more... just a slow walk to that place is enough as I keep eating... not even paying attention if there were predators around... I was pretty confident with my size and complexion...

Arcanine [♀]: As I stood on the edge of the forest, I closed my mouth for a second to use my primary sense to sniff the clearing. My nostrils dilating as I breathed in the warm Summer air. I small sneeze escaped my nose as a fly got too close to my breathing range. I bend my head down and use my front paw to itch my nose a little... although it was no use. The itching froze me more to more frustration.

As I looked back up with squinting eyes, I notice a rather large bucket of water next to house-looking building. I whined slightly, seeing it so far and knowing it will be extremely dangerous to just walk out onto a field.

I look slightly to the right and notice a few Pokemon grazing on the grass. A few Ponyta and a couple of Rapidash it looked like. I snort to myself, wondering why such majestic beasts let themselves be controlled by humans. I lower my body to the ground slightly, and start to crawl towards the bucket of water, mouth already watering slightly, despite my thirst.

Rapidash [♂]: Under my apparent concentration on my food, I thought I feel something... like a noise or the sensation of being observed... feeling that fades quickly as I think to myself, that there are too many noises and eyes in the open wild...

I just shake my head tilting to one side and another... "Neigh... brfrfrfr..." Some noises boosted my confidence of being the strongest male I've seen around...

I walk closer to the water bucket but was sidetracked for some bunch of attractive green grass next to it, turning around and getting busy with such dish...

Arcanine [♀]: I sprinted full run down the hill towards the house. I couldn't see my destination, as i was lowered to the ground so much I could only see grass in my vision. I used my nose to guide me down to that water.

In my run I dared to look up slightly and realised I was close, so I dodged to the side a bit and hid behind the house, where no one could see me, although I was in full view now... and the grass or bushes were not going to hide me here. I just trusted my senses to let me know if anyone was close.

I slowly turn round the corner, but suddenly jumped back as something caught my eye. After a few seconds of composure... I slowly looked round again with swivelling ears, listening for danger. There was a Rapidash... right next to MY water!!!

I was in no mood to compete for food or water today... and my heat made me a little more aggressive than usual. I stood with head lowered, and ears back, facing towards the animal.

"You better leave there soon, or I will tear you apart, Foal" the voice in my head shouted.

Rapidash [♂]: All this grass in my digestive system made me want water now more than before, just walked to the water bucket and drank some... until I felt it was enough.

I was thinking to myself... "It was cool to find some water around since there are no lakes, humans made a nice thing here... wonder what's going to be next..."

For some reason in this day my testosterone gave me more confidence than usual... but dang... something's bugging me in my belly... I think is a fly... in the only place I can't really burn this annoying insect...

I lift my hind leg and try to rub my belly a little, hopping the fly is gone... and for a moment it worked, but this persistent bug seemed to find some comfort there... I wasn't going to be bothered to raise my hoof again... I just waked next to a small box to the corner of the light-blue farm house and shuffled around until this box was rubbing my belly... I kept scratching and left to eat more green delicious grass again...

When I started to eat, I felt something not so heavy wagging under my belly... I look closer to sniff and check and I realised that rubbing the bottom of my body against that box gave me a small erection, thing I didn't mind much, just felt good but I was more comfortable with my food so I returned to eat...

Arcanine [♀]: I stood still, watching this selfish creature drink all my water. I let a growl loose under my breath, which made me realise how thirsty I was, so I decided to move closer.

I stopped in my tracks when I saw him rubbing his belly, obviously from an itch, but I couldn't help thinking to myself how silly he looked. I noticed his muscles, how they were like steel against his skin. How they rippled from the slightest movement. Those strong, hard legs that were designed to carry all that bulk, and to even run with it.

I tore my eyes away, and noticed the growing aching pains in my lower body again, and I brought my tail down between my legs to hide the heat scent, which could be wafted from a slight wag of my tail. I sat down, hopefully to help relieve it, and my eyes moved back to the massive creature... but they caught something different than before...

My eyes widened at the sight, and my tongue hung from my mouth as I saw this Rapidash's manhood seemed bigger than before. I think to myself...

"Geez... snap out of it girl, you are a different species!! I need some darn water and I will be fine..."

I bought up my courage and walked closer to the water bucket, not caring if he saw me anymore.

Rapidash [♂]: In the middle of my lunch I heard something moving closer, and I just turn my ears backwards, trying to locate the sound like radars, but I kept eating...

Then the noise grew intense and I needed to look... but I knew I wasn't under any threatening so I turned slowly my head whilst I chewed some grass in my nuzzle...

But my surprise was big when I saw a massive creature, all covered of fur, larger in it's legs and around the head, also a huge tail...

I wasn't going to run nowhere but I turned my body to face this beast trying to stay as brave as possible even when I felt I was under serious problems... I frozen being extra attentive to the moves of this new Pokémon...

Thinking to myself "What I'm going to do now... what if this big creature wants to attack me..." I just did a soft neigh... and waited for an answer...

Arcanine [♀]: I noticed him turn round, but it didn't stop me from walking up to the water bucket. I slowly lower my head to the cool liquid and lap up some water with my tongue, feeling the cool refreshing taste go down my throat. My eyes never left his the whole time.

After I was finished, I licked my lips a bit, to rid of the excess water. I turn my head side to side, looking out for anyone else, and when I sensed I was in no danger I looked back at the Rapidash.

I forgot about my tail, which was standing back up again in its natural stance. I just looked at him, my eyes every now and then moving down to his underbelly, which made me remember the aching on my lower belly, and the heat under fur that wasn't just due to the hot sun. It was driving me crazy by now...I forgot all my surroundings for a minute.

My mind felt a little confused at that point, and my lust was taking over my sense of danger. By natural instinct, as if he were with a male Arcanine, I walked up to him slowly but warily, swaying my tail side to side, releasing the heat scent. I was glad when he didn't move away, and I started to sniff his neck slowly, then his sides, moving to his belly. I wanted to know everything about this magnificent beast, he was extremely interesting to me for some reason. I wondered if I scared him, although I didn't care. If he rejected me, I would make him mine by force...

Rapidash [♂]: There was something in the air that I could perceive but bigger was my worrying when this huge Pokémon got closer... its eyes were locked on me so I was starting to feel a bit of panic but I couldn't move... my body just didn't react to my wishes...

Once this creature was close enough I realised it was a female beast, but still dangerous... her size was enough to beat me, even if I gave fight it all seemed that for sure I was in a big disadvantage...

When she smelled my neck I thought she was about to give me a lethal bite... then she moved to my side... and I thought to myself... "Is she going to analyse her lunch?"

When the large and possessive creature moved a bit more behind me I just turn around a bit not wanting to allow her explore more of me... as I felt nobody could help me perhaps I should try to escape at least. But how?

I just walked backwards a bit...

Arcanine [♀]: As I started to sniff his underbelly, I noticed him start to walk away. This angered me a bit, as I was not to be messed with today... especially as my pains were growing stronger, and my blood was boiling to a point I felt I could explode. I raised my head and looked back into his eyes. I growled loud enough for you to hear me, and I showed my white teeth to him.

I walked closer to him, quicker than before, and I put my teeth around his neck... but not hard enough to strangle or break the skin. Just enough to let him know I wasn't messing around. I growled a little louder, as if I was talking to you.

"I wouldn't bother running from me, Rapidash. You are mine now, whether you like it or not. I will chase you down until the day you die if you escape from me now."

I let go of my grip, hoping you knew what I was thinking, and rubbed my whole body past his side, pushing him sideways against the edge of the barn. I knew he could run when he wanted... but I hoped he wouldn't. I needed him now, and he had no choice.

Rapidash [♂]: Her breath was too hot... even for a fire type creature like me, I feel I needed to run but I couldn't do I felt I had to be submissive this time... but how?

Was I going to be her food? What did she want from me?... I froze totally when her teeth hold my neck... I thought it was going to be my last breath but then I hear guess that her plan wasn't she was going to eat me... but why? Why is she like this? Is she possessed by some demon? That's why of his musk I feel around her? But this doesn't feel any dangerous really... apart of her attitude and teeth...

She leaves my neck and I feel a sudden relieve but was this the beginning of her foreplay to kill me somehow even when she was going to eat me?

Her body comes closer rubbing mine and with her big body she pushes me, I just feel uncomfortable what's next hoping it's nothing horrible...

Arcanine [♀]: I rub against his muscular bulk, his fur feeling wonderful against mine, somehow easing the prickly heat under my skin for a short while. My tail sways past his face as I rub against him. My actions then got my lower abdomen in a more fierce heat, and I felt the air against my womanhood as I realised it was reacting by leaking slightly.

I kept pushing the scared creature against the side of the barn, making sure he don't escape, and I start to nibble around his shoulders, using my tongue to taste him, noticing his body starting to sweat, which pushed me a little further to the edge. My muzzle reached under his belly, seeing his body twitch as my cold nose touched him.

I lower my head so I can reach under his belly, and noticed his member had grown a bit more than before. I wondered to myself if it was intentional or if his body was reacted against his mind. I pushed my head closer to it, sniffing first, then bringing my tongue out a bit to taste the sensitive skin. It was completely different to an Arcanine's, I was so intrigued I had to explore more. I licked a few times, and noticed his body moving slightly, whether from fear or not, I didn't care. So I pressed my side into him more.

Rapidash [♂]: I started to feel not so scared, since this huge girl seemed to be just curious... perhaps ... perhaps I was wrong but... might she be interested on just spectate and analyse this huge equine? Even tho... it was a bit rude to ask... well not even ask just order me...

When she turns around to feed her curiosity I see her back ... between the legs... for a moment I stay thinking... "Wow... what it means... I don't think she feels attracted to me... after all I'm nothing close to her specie... but as a grown male and always cared by humans... almost... preserved... I never been with a girl... so perhaps all of these are mixed feelings... but... it was still amusing to see...

Just her... annoying cold nose poking here and there made my body twitch a bit... apart of that... her body rubbing mine and pushing me somewhere I wasn't looking at in the moment... felt good enough to feel more secure... a feeling of irony actually...

Then I feel something I wasn't ready for... her tongue... not so cold as her nose licked my private parts... such act brought me shivers all around my body. Certainly something I never experienced before but felt so exquisite... just moved my hind legs a bit backwards unconsciously allowing her more access to my growing organ as my breath and heartbeat ratings were increasing...

Arcanine [♀]: I lick up his shaft a little bit more, enjoying the way it seemed to grow slightly. I was so interested in it as I had never seen one before. It was so different to the Arcanine ones I have seen... much bigger, but I didn't notice the knot I was used to. I didn't care anyway, all I wanted was to make this Rapidash mine.

My sensitive ears picked up his heart rate speeding, and his breathing getting louder, as was mine. My female organ was dripping slightly more by now, I could feel it running onto my fur, I thought I may have felt it run down my thighs slightly.

I growled in frustration as I needed to fulfill my needs, and I walked backwards slightly, having his member in full view, getting me even more excited.

I circled round to his front, and nibbled a couple of times at his ear, growling, letting him know that he was mine, and going to help my burning to release. I then walked forward in front of him, and raised my ass in the air, walking back slightly, pressing my woman hood against his chest in a need to feel it against something quick. I started panting again and let my front body lower a bit.

Rapidash [♂]: Perhaps I never been before with a female Rapidash... or Ponyta... but I knew I was going to enjoy this... Well I already was...

My penis was growing larger and harder out of my shaft... I couldn't help leave go something from my member... I felt a bit embarrassed because of that... but for some reason I knew it wasn't wrong... just came along with my constant erection...

I couldn't believe it it was just something new and overwhelming... my breathing was going crazy and I felt the need to rush on something but wasn't that clear at the moment... perhaps confused because she wasn't even my specie...

I thought the game was about to finish when she walked away from her licking sessions... it had me so hard, perhaps as my very first hardening it was incredibly tight, sometimes I felt it poking and hitting my stomach... She walks in front of me, it seemed to change a bit the game since she was now between the barn and me... I could've ran away... but I didn't... I just didn't want it to finish now she got all my attention ...

Honestly I was still feeling a bit scared by such large Pokémon who attacked me just few moments ago... but this wasn't really going the bad way...

I felt something wet from her pushing against my chest and I walk back a bit just to see a very wet strange female organ to me... I saw many female equines... this was new... but seemed interesting... I just sniffed after swinging my head like wanting to scare flies in my head... an unexplainable sensation filled my head and went slowly to my so hard and waving penis that moved side to side as I moved in nervous and desperation...

Without warning I sink a bit my nuzzle into her wet vagina, not smelling but feeling her flavor in my tongue... was strange... just made me stand back in my hind legs for a moment and then go in fours again, to what movement my length hit my stomach again and moved like an arrow just shoot into a target...

Some gooey liquid leaked from the tip of my pink stiffness... I go forward a bit surrounding her with my front legs, just like knowing what to do. I move forward and my hard member hit her right leg and pass behind her belly... such contact was incredible, her body was hotter than mine... I could feel it near to her skin since around her area she had shorter hair...

Without success I lost balance and slide to her side again in my fours I feel frustration and pain, like wanting to relieve this blinding feeling like if a demon took over my body...

Arcanine [♀]: I felt a softness press against my wetness, and for a second I thought he was already going to start the mating, but I notice something thin reach around my aching organ. It was wet and moving, so I figured it was his tongue, tasting my fluids I expect. It felt good of course, but I still felt I needed more. I whined as the fire was growing inside me, and I started to push my hips into him.

I notice him stop and raise onto his hind legs, and my heart stops, waiting for the weight and the penetration to follow. When nothing came I start to breathe again, starting to get frustrated. I let him try again, but this time his arms reached my back, and I felt a poking around my thighs. I moved my tail up and to the side to allow more room for his aim. The rub of his member felt good on my fur, even if it wasn't near the right place, but when he fell again, my bad mood got the best of me and I snapped my body round, with a sharp bark and I show him my fangs in frustration.

I barked at the male a couple of times, lunging myself forward with every bark, just showing him how frustrated I was and for him to get this done properly. My thighs were wetter than before, from both our juices, and I felt my entrance was in fire... needing him soon or I will definitely kill him and I will find a more experienced stallion.

I turn around again, but this time I leant my front paws on the side of the house, and I look back at him, with my tongue out from the pain and heat, my teeth still showing slightly, to show him I still meant business. I wondered if this would help keep him steady... and I growled to him to get started again, I was growing impatient...

Rapidash [♂]: I feel a short shock of fear when I see and hear this fierce girl getting a bit more mad than before. Her attitude wasn't helping as she was still a bit huge for me I was in certainly weakness, but some filling desire was overcoming it already.

I bring my front legs up again and approach to this furious and hot dog, trying to aim in the place my penis belonged the most...

I keep balance as good as possible, whilst my member grow in pulsating stiffness acting like a thick whip.

The second try is still unsuccessful as I couldn't coordinate the correct height with the level of the soaked female organ so wanting before my fancy member, that couldn't hit a mark yet.

This time I didn't turn back I kept my chest over this fiery and savagely seductive beast. I jump once the same time I hump and hold her waist with my hooves against my body, but the tip of my penis kept soaking around her vagina... I go backwards a bit but not enough to lower my front hooves to the ground again, but just enough to gain impulse and with the exact pulse of my member bumps into the precise place allowing in one shot to penetrate her with the half of my stiffness...

In that precise moment I find the glory of the mating, I walk forward as much as possible allowing my firmness enter completely into the realms of the exquisiteness... I relax a bit just to hump harder than before, her movements the same time makes me walk back a bit just to go forward again and trust her completely inside, the rubbing of my throbbing meat inside her steamy track made me feel great enough to leave go a quite powerful neigh to the top of my lungs.

There was certain rhythm in the sexual stabbing, the flames of my body grew in intensity, like if petrol was tossed in my body, almost like an explosion... For once I didn't care if I was going to be dinner after this, all I knew is that I was experiencing a heavenly pleasure, perhaps too soon but I feel my body needs to release something, I start twitching as I thrust forward with power...

Arcanine [♀]: I wait for the weight to hit me again. I plant my hind legs onto the ground, waiting for the next approach from him. As I close my eyes, I feel his chest weigh on my back, and I tense my leg muscles up to stay as still as I can to keep from falling from the heaviness of this animal.

I notice him moving slightly around trying to find the right spot, and I move my tail up high, to avoid anything getting in the way. I keep my eyes closed, knowing that this was the right time it was going to happen. His member seems to find the right spot finally, and with a quite quick thrust, in enters my burning tunnel.

I yelp slightly as he enters, partly from the size and also from the speed it moved in, but it felt too good to let it stop. He pushes forward, and I feel him enter me more, rubbing every cell in my heat... helping to extinguish the fire I have felt for so long. I start to pant heavily, whining a bit again, but from pleasure this time... not being able to help showing how good this felt.

Not only did it look different to an Arcanine's, it also felt different. For one it was bigger, and my walls seems to hug it like crazy... but the movements were slower, with more precision and reaching places inside I never knew existed. I could feel the juices already escaping me, running down my legs, and onto my paws, as they held their place in the dirt.

I bring my hips up slightly, to hopefully give more space for him to move around, and by pure bliss, I turn my head round and bite on his ear slightly, and I start to move my hips with his as my breathing and heart rate paced.

Rapidash [♂]: My hind hooves were looking for more traction as I pushed forward with uncontrollable passion... I wasn't really "measuring" deepness... I just sank it all...

Sincerely, as fire Pokémon we are, I kept in the back of my mind the idea of that anytime soon all round was going to be in fire... but nothing more important than what already was in fire... my so hard penis rubbing in and out the so hot vagina the same time I poured inside my liquids that were not yet the proper thing I felt I wanted to shot out of my system...

My front-legs kept grip on her hips helping me to push deeper inside, now to the root, where physically I couldn't push more... once more half outside just to push it back completely inside and it was enough for my mind goes blank and all my muscles tenses all in a sudden every one or two seconds as I feel something warm, thick and stick flows down my throbbing maleness and be deposited deep inside into the bowels of the female Arcanine I was mating with... With every shot of my semen I pushed more and more inside like if the natural limit of our bodies wasn't an obstacle...

Another loud neighing leave my throat like if it was my last scream of life... I never knew how was I going to lost my "innocence" but certainly is not something I will regret never...

My male fertiliser was leaving to all I had stored inside for so long time, like litres of it filled my companion... indeed I think it was more than what she could hold since as I trusted once more on my last spurts of seminal liquid it went out violating the so tight connection we had... and ended wasted in the dirt... making a larger mess than it was already just with both pre juices moments ago...

Finally I feel I have nothing more in my reservoir, so all tired and panting I unmount my couple, still with an average stiffness slowly decreasing...

As soon as I finish to draw out my member it seems from the beast's vagina was open a valve... a big amour of liquid once mine was being leaked into the floor... just to my satisfy my curiosity I give a short smell to this mess and again to the female's organ before of stepping back a little more and stay there just heaving, resting from such intense activity...

Arcanine [♀]: My panting got louder and my muscles tensed up from the weight, and trying to stay rooted to the spot. I loved the feeling of his forelegs tight around my body, creating a closer bond than we were already sharing. I could feel his member increasing in size as he entered me a few times, which bought my climax rising too.

I whimpered as his length pushed all the way in, and pressing against a sensitive spot inside. A couple more thrusts set my climax off. I raise my head up, with a silent cry, tightening my eyes closed, and my body shook and shivered as I rode out the ending. My legs were moving around on the floor, as I couldn't keep still, and my paws were slowly slipping down the edge of the building.

It was then I felt some thick liquid spray into my insides. It felt hot and filling to me, as my climax was still going on, which made me ride my hips onto his slightly, with each push squirting some of his semen from my walls.

My shaking stopped... and as I felt him dismount, my front paws slid off the building edge, and the front half of my body fell to the ground, as my hips stayed in the air. I was aware of the liquids escaping me, but I didn't care right now. All i knew was my heat was diminished for now... and all I felt was happiness and relaxation. My legs start to shake and my hips fall to the floor, not caring if I fell in some of the liquid. I just lay with my eyes closed for a bit... aware he was still near.

Rapidash [♂]: I didn't realize of your almost fainting as I was just standing there in my feet as my fifth member shrunk enough to go back inside his protective sheath...

When I feel I rested enough to move again, I walk back to the exhausted Arcanine and nuzzle her a bit, first her leg, then I sniff her belly that looked like a pump inflating and deflating fast. I wondered if she was okay... in all my savage mounting I didn't care much about her... next I do, is to nuzzle her neck and head, wondering if everything was alright.

I just nuzzle her and neigh softly just like asking her if she was okay... When I move my head up again to see the surroundings some Pokémon between other Rapidash and Ponytas among other creatures who came nearby out of pure curiosity was staring at us... some of them just turned away and resumer their tasks, others just paid attention like scared for such spectacle...

I didn't care really, again my confidence boosted up but also, now I was feeling some attachment towards the female I just filled with my seep and was worried about her wellness...

Arcanine [♀]: I was vaguely aware of him coming back to me, as I felt his soft nose nuzzle my fur. By now my breathing has slowed down... but I was exhausted and didn't feel like getting up. I used my last strength to reach my head up, to look towards him. My eyes were half closed, and I lick his nose to tell him that I'm ok. I let out a sigh, and notice my heat had gone... and I just wanted to sleep here for a bit. I curl into a ball, not caring if I was in full view of a hunter or farmer. I somehow felt that this Rapidash would protect me.

i felt a little bad for being so hard to him, but I could see he had no hard feelings against me, so he was maybe as happy as I was. I let out another deep breath, and stick my nose under my paw and start to dose off into sleep.

Rapidash [♂]: Under confirmation that my companion was okay, I just stay around, I drink some water and resume into eat some more grass, but never gone far from this girl again, juts hoping she doesn't go far one day leaving me here.

— END —

.....