

Sometimes people can be lost in the forest. Well, not if people now where they are in a forest full wild animals. Fabiola is a park ranger, her job to keep the park forest area safe from harm and incidents happening. She does have a daughter, Olivia, unfortunately she's at her friend's house playing with as them as always.

Every day after work she comes home tired and had at least time spent with her daughter about how she has been. They don't seem to be together that often; she has a lot of work to do. Since Olivia was a little, Fabiola always took care and raised her with kindness and happiness. However, it changed a few years when Fabiola had to get a job to support her and her daughter. Fabiola haven't found anything odd around the forest, until she found a temple like cave in the middle of the forest.

"Huh, why is there a temple in the middle of the woods? Never seen or been reported about this."

She said as she thought of the temple.

"Well, I guess I can go in" she said.

Fabiola didn't hesitate so she went inside the temple. It was little dark but luckily she had found the flashlight with her guiding her through the hallway. Fabiola then realized she sees wall of artifacts that were concrete and not as gold or shiny as she thinks it is, some of them are crack or little clean.

"Amazing..." She said as she got attention by the drawings in the wall.

She later saw a chamber door and it seems....unlocked?

"Why would it be unlocked, what could be in there?" Fabiola questions

Fabiola opens the door and found an artifact statue that has a figure of a fox or Vixen.

"This seems beautiful I wonder if I can hold it." She said

Fabiola went inspecting and examining the artifact that is standing in a flat table. She had to examine more so she decided to get the artifact and study it. The artifact was gold and shiny, almost if it was new, She went closer to the artifact and slowly grabbing it. Once she grabbed the artifact was glowing and made huge light that flashes the whole room.

“Ahh!”

The light was too bright for her, so she had to cover her eyes from it. This made her dropped the artifact. After the flash was gone she said this

“Nothing happened”

Luckily the artifact wasn't even damage, not even a scratch was made. All the sudden, Fabiola felt a weird sensation like she was feeling warm for all the sudden.

“Augh...” She said as she is in pain.

She felt pins and needles poking her and then pains spots occur in parts of her body. Orange hair is starting to grow from her skin. More and more fur grow all over her body and she felt much pain as her bones were reshaping as well as her body,.

“What is happenin- ah..”

Fabiola felt cracks on her body all the sudden as she was changing. She feel on the floor as her hands and feet are hurting. For some reason she can't get up anymore. She took off her shoes and was shocked that her leg became a paw and her nails grow and became sharp. Also her skinturned dark for the half part of the leg. She took off the other shoe and same thing was made as the other foot.

“AAHH!”

The pain became worse as her body is changing. Her stomach and her back became slender and straight. Fur kept growing as her face reshape as her nose became a rounded. Her eyes change as her entire face made it forward as her nose and mouth was far from her eyes. Now her face has become a snout. Her normal teeth had changed to sharp pointy teeth, very sharp as a pointed knife. Her ears moved on top of her head and are triangular shaped.

“I can’t take it anymore... please make it stop...”

As the transformation kept on going she grew a long furry and fluffy tail surprisingly having lots of hair fur growing in that area. After that, she shrank to a animal size and her clothes became very big for her. Finally, the pain stopped and Fabiola was relieved from that. However, she fainted as the transformation made her tired.

“Finally... stopped...” she as she fainted.

Many moments later, Fabiola had not felt any pain or changes anymore. She was about to wake up.

“Mmmm..... what happen....” Said Fabiola in a tired sound.

Huh..... why can’t I stand up in two legs.... what!?” Said Fabiola and was surprised to realize that she felt different.

She only stood in four legs, perfectly, she see her legs dark with claws shown a bit. Fabiola felt her mouth different as her teeth wasn’t that sharp as last time.

“Wha... What in the world have I become?” Fabiola was concerned and worried.

.”Why do I have a tail... I got to see what happened to me.”

She went walking almost weak getting used to her legs being on fours. Luckily her backpack is opened which didn't wasn't a struggle for her to open it with her paws. She found a mirror and revealed her true self.

“WHAT?” She Screamed as she knew what she had become.

Fabiola is an animal. Her face changed having a snout and her ears are triangular and are top of her head. Her eyes I are in a different color than she used to have. Her entire body is covered with orange fur. She had a fluffy tail. Fabiola was turned into a fox.

“Wha... wha... Why am I a fox? How did this happen?”

She was worried about what she has turned into. A fox. She found her clothes standing on top of it, which will never fit on her anymore, and found a the artifact that she dropped while she was transformed. She inspects and examines that artifact.

“Was this the caused that changed me?...” She questioned

Fabiola realized that in fact it glowed and it flashed her. She studied herself of what she is now. Her fur is soft. She looked at her legs thinking.

“How am I supposed to walked like this, well I'm probably going to get used to this.”

Fabiola walked a few steps and she got used to it by move one leg from another. While at it, she wanted to find a way to get out of this temple. Fabiola went where she entered and finding she came from. It was a long way to the exit.

“Uhh it's so far to walk out... hmmm... what if I can run?”

As Fabiola thinks about, she give it a try. She ran very fast as she was running in a race.

“Wow... I never thought foxes runs this fast” she said as she run.

Fabiola found this useful, whenever there is trouble or danger, she can escape from it right away by running. Later, She finally got out and realize it felt nice outside.

“Huh, Not bad, as of now” she said.

Her paws feel soft and felt nothing right now between her feet. The forest was still nice out here. She went through the forest and see big trees and bushes. Because of her animal size, almost everything was a bit small. Lots of wild animals She some looked at her as she was new to this place and never seen the fox before living in the forest. But later the animals now didn't pay that much attention to her and cause no problems as longs as she stays away from them.

“Well now what do I do I'm a fox now walking through the woods...”she said as she continue walking through the forest.

Fabiola had been walking through the forest for a bit and noticed that she could go through bushes and went okay going through there. Bit of twigs on her fur, but easy to get it off. Later, she found something very interesting and odd at the same time.

“Huh? That's strange... I know much about the forest around her, but I don't remember going through this path before.” Fabiola thought.

She went along the path which leds her to a top of a hill with a view with lots of trees, grassland, and a lake aside down there. This had made her jaw opened with a happy expression..

“Wow...” She said as she looked at the view with a smile on her face as a fox

“I never thought there was a hill to see the view.” She said

She had stand still seeing the view as later she felt the breeze and the wind picked up and went through her soft fur. Fabiola had her smile even more as she felt it.

“Being a Fox sure can be fun though, but... my daughter... would she will know that I’m gone...” She said

Fabiola had a thought of about her daughter Olivia, she will be all alone. She was thinking of going to see her. However, she can’t do it.

“If I show my daughter what I had become, she will think I’m just a dangerous wild fox. I hope someday, I wish I can see my daughter with any harm.”

After that she goes into the wilderness. People noticed that the park ranger Fabiola disappeared and nobody seems to find her. The police are investigating the disappearance and turns out neither could found her. The other park ranger who worked with Fabiola tells the details and the last she saw her to the police to continue the investigation.

“Now how are we going to break the news to the woman’s daughter?” Says the male police.

“I don’t know, she is young though... hey did you know people rumor about the temple being the middle of the woods?” Says the female police.

“Yes, There a lot mysterious things everyday.” Says the male police
