

It's nighttime, and a young girl named Abby was sleeping on her bed. She woke up, and got out of bed. She went downstairs and went to the kitchen to get a glass of water. After she got some water, she went to the living room. She looked through the window and see the full moon shining bright outside.

"Wow, very pretty" she said.

As Abby's looking through the full moon, she felt very itchy from her hand. It felt very rough as she touched it. It was scales and it was growing all over her body. Abby felt her body growing big. Her hands are becoming big and her face was pushing forward and her teeth grew sharp.

"Arrr.... What happening to me rawr..."

Abby's hair fell loose and her eyes change vision. Her nostrils change having her nose shrunk down having holes instead. Her stomach is growing bigger having her pajamas getting torn into pieces and having them completely ripped as they wouldn't fit anymore. Her arms and torso change having them shrunk a bit small. Abby's fingernails and toenails grew into sharp claws. Her fingers merge to having two claw fingers instead of having five. Her legs changed having it bended, and her feet reshape having to stand a little different. Her toes reshape to having three. Finally, she grew a long reptilian tail from her back. The transformation finally stopped.

Abby stood in her two reptilian legs and see her eye vision changed having to see things better.

"Huh!?"

Abby looked at her hands and notices that she has two clawed fingers. She turns around and sees a tail. She went to mirror reflection and sees a Tyrannosaurus-Rex staring back at her. She touched her teeth and felt very pointy and sharp. She looked at every part of herself. Her hands, feet, her body, and even a tail.

“Hmm... maybe if I can walk like a T-rex”

Abby took steps trying to walk with new legs and she sometimes she trips and falls on the floor, but she got up on her feet. She kept walking and she got used to walking as a t-rex.

“giggles this is fun, I like being a T-rex” she says happily.

Abby runs around the house the house being playful like chasing her tail, seeing her shadow and doing poses trying be a scary dinosaur.

“RAWR”

Abby finds toys laying around on the floor and begins playing with them.

“I have an idea!” she says.

Abby went to grab blocks and cars placing them like buildings, towers, and cars. She playing the dinosaur destroying the city. She roars, growls, and bites the toys and tries not eat them. After that, she is done playing and grew tired.

“Wow that was fun! yawn I feel tired”

Abby climbs up the sofa and laid there softly. She yawn once more and went to sleep.

“Zzz... Zzz...”

The next day, it was morning and the sun has risen up. Her mother came downstairs and sees the living room is a mess. However, she was surprised to see that there's clothes torn and ripped oinm the floor. She sees her daughter sleeping on her sofa with a blanket.

“Looks like my daughter had fun tonight”