

Desired Tales #15

Finlay has spent many days achievement hunting in an rpg video game he bought weeks ago. He wants to unlock everything. He already spent too many hours on the game to quit now. He opens the game map and sees that the next item he needs is on top of a high landscape and he first has to trudge through a muddy swamp to get there.

Finlay's in-game character should be strong enough to get this item and achievement. Although, the item is in a place he hasn't been to before. Uncharted territory doesn't scare him. He already has great armor and weapons. He knows he should be fine.

Finlay arrives at the swamp with no issues. He sees the mud ahead of him. He can see a huge ledge high into the sky. That's where he must go! Finlay takes a few steps forward. His feet and legs quickly sink in the mud! It's hard to move! He takes off his heavy armor. With the exception of his underwear, he's now naked. His toes wiggle in the mud. His character can move more freely in the sinking mud while not wearing armor. It's still a struggle for him to get across the muddy map but it's easier than before.

Finlay can see his footprint in the mud each time he lifts his foot up. He looks around and see other footprints in the mud made by other people. He doesn't know how old the footprints are. He looks around and doesn't see any other players or enemies. He wonders if there is some kind of trap. It's quiet. Too quiet. He can hear his own heart beating. He doesn't know if it's the sound of his heart beating in real life or in the game.

Finlay continues to trek forward in the mud. A few seconds feel like an eternity while he walks. He mutters to himself how he should have tried another achievement before this one. He's already running out of patience but he doesn't quit. He simply moves forward, one foot, one step at a time.

Finlay begins to notice that there are less footprints in the mud now. Questions race through his mind. Did old footprints disappear after a period of time? Were the players attacked and died? Finlay could feel sweat dripping down his forehead as he thought about bad scenarios. He should ignore these thoughts. He knows he strong enough to take down anything. Besides, he has great armor and weapons... that he's not currently using due to them weighing him down.

Finlay continues to have these thoughts while walking forward in the mud. What could possibly attack people in the mud? Finlay doesn't like spoiling himself, so he never looked up all the enemies in the game. Could there be some type of mud monster? Ridiculous. Deadly quicksand? Preposterous. Maybe a croc? Would it be a feral croc or an anthropomorphic crocodile? Finlay still feels sweat dripping down his forehead as he walks and ponders.

Finlay only sees a few footprints in front of him. One of the trails of footprints abruptly ends. Finlay doesn't know why the footprints stopped. More worries plague his mind. The mud has been sticking to his legs. It's definitely affecting his speed and movement. His character wouldn't be fast enough to run away from any attacking enemies. But none of the footprints he saw showed any kind of struggle or running away. They simply stopped. Was there a glitch? Or perhaps some kind of magic? Finlay shakes his head negatively. He shouldn't let these thoughts boggle his mind.

Finlay can feel his legs getting weaker. Is he going to collapse? Despite the disappearing footprints, there was no other sign of anyone previously collapsing due to fatigue in the mud. If someone had fallen to their knees, then surely there would be some kind of hole in the mud in the spot it happened. Finlay still hasn't seen any kind of big hole in the mud.

Finlay's legs are starting to wobble. Finlay realizes he doesn't have enough stamina remaining. Finlay finally shouts, "Help! Help! Help!"

Finlay's eyes look around. He wonders if any enemy will come out. Maybe he can climb on top of an enemy and reach his destination! Finlay is trying his best to have hope. He does not want the swamp to be his graveyard.

Finlay shouts again while walking, "Help! Help me!"

Finlay sees a dark mark in the mud in front of him. This might be the monster he has to defeat to beat the swamp! This is it!

Suddenly, something grabs Finlay from behind and lifts him out of the mud! Finlay sees the muddy ground below himself! Whatever is holding Finlay is flying through the sky! That's why the footprints end! They didn't sink into the swamp, they were flown up out of the swamp!

Finlay doesn't feel pain while he's being carried in the air. He wonders if the enemy will attack him or drop him. Where would he be dropped? He looks down and doesn't see any huge hole in the mud that would signify somebody was dropped there. Finlay tries his best to not struggle. He knows if he tries fighting whatever is carrying him, then there would be a risk of Finlay falling to his doom.

Finally, Finlay's feet feel the ground again. No more being in the air. No more mud. Finlay quickly looks at the map and realizes he's on the ledge near the achievement.

Finlay turns around to see what was holding him. Finlay gasps. He sees an anthropomorphic horse with large wings coming from the backside. Finlay sees human-like humans and hooves for feet. The pegasus is naked and Finlay can tell the pegasus is male due to the long horse penis in front of Finlay. This is the first time Finlay saw a pegasus in the game.

Finlay is too tired to think about what to do. His legs wobbles, he collapses, landing on his knees in front of the pegasus. Finlay feels the stallion cock touching his cheek. He smells the musk. The pegasus finally speaks, "You're just like the rest. All failed on their own. I pity them. Too immature with big egos to realize how weak they're really are. I could have crushed them if I wanted to, but I'm too nice for that. I helped them gain a new secret achievement. Consider this a gift."

The pegasus uses his hand to open Finlay's mouth. Finlay moves his head away from the hand. Finlay isn't shying away, he has a different motive. Finlay will not give in to being submissive. He will suck the cock exactly how he wants, not how the pegasus wants. Finlay eagerly licks the long horse cock with his tongue. The pegasus makes neighing sounds, "This isn't how it's supposed to go! You need to consume my seed to gain the achievement!"

Finlay opens his mouth wide and moves his head to take in the horse phallus! Finlay gives the pegasus a blowjob!

Real life Finlay begins to masturbate while watching his game character suck the pegasus! Something about the whole situation is turning Finlay on. He strokes the cock with one hand while his other hand is on the game controller! The pegasus smirks while looking directly at the game camera. The screen becomes too bright to see! Finlay hears his controller drop. He feels something in his mouth! He opens his eyes and sees a furry crotch in front of him!

Real life Finlay replaces his own character in the game. He doesn't stop what's happening. He bobs his head while giving the pegasus a blowjob. Finlay enjoys sucking too much to stop!

Finlay starts to taste cum in his mouth. Within seconds, his mouth becomes flooded with sperm! He swallows all the heavenly sperm inside his mouth. The pegasus pats Finlay's head while saying, "It's time for your achievement."

Finlay's face suddenly stretches while growing horse fur! Finlay feels stiffness in his hands and feet! He looks down and sees hooves instead of hands! It's not like the hands of the pegasus. They're horse hooves!

Finlay feels his torso stretching and getting heavier! His arms and legs are getting stronger and stretching too! His whole body is heating up! His throbbing penis even feels like it's grown!

Finlay feels a tail growing from his backside. He hasn't felt any wings. He starts to realize he isn't becoming a pegasus, he's becoming a horse!

Finlay finally stops sucking the dick that's inside his mouth. He takes a few steps backwards and let the penis slide out of his mouth. He tries to stand up but he's still stuck on all fours! The pegasus laughs at Finlay. The pegasus grabs Finlay's arms and lift him up. Finlay can now walk on two legs again. He looks down and sees he's now an anthropomorphic horse! Even if he had access to his armor, there is no way it would fit his huge horse body.

The pegasus claps, "Congrats on your achievement! You're still too weak of a player, you couldn't even grow wings, so you'll be stuck here forever! I'll escort you to the other players. They're just like you. They'll keep you company when I'm not around."