

Many years ago a dragon and a floppy eared rabbit fell in love. Then as now, relationships between two completely different species were looked down upon. Their love for each other overcame their differences, the rabbit was a small female rabbit with dark, almost black fur. She had four breasts and was only about 5 and a half feet tall. The dragon was about 8' tall and heavily muscled all over and was actually a herm, though she looked male and acted male.

They had many young and most of them looked overall dragon. One however looked more of a rabbit with large wings and a real mix of a dragon and bunny. This one was born a herm like his dad. She grew up and met a handsome floppy eared bunny and they had a child, this one was more of a bunny than the mother. This one was born a herm like his mother and at the time she was born she was covered in crimson red scales all over. As she got older his fur grew in and it was quite dark. By the time she reached 2 it was evident that she was rather heavy set but his parents didn't mind. She looked mostly like a bunny, though the bottom of his paws had no fur revealing his scales. She had a pair of small dragon wings but they were not that big; also she was born with 4 breasts which with age would develop with him.

As sie grew older sie started developing into a pretty young woman. Hir weight made it hard to find decent clothes. By the time sie was 16 sie had started dating an older dragon sie met in hir school. Sie loved him and thought he was the cutest boy ever.

He showed interest in hir, though he didn't know sie was a herm yet as the school they went to made them wear uniforms. Sie had to wear a skirt, blouse and a blazer left open. there were no exemptions even for herms. If you looked like a specific gender you were treated as such and made to wear that type of clothing. Sie found this annoying since sie liked being a herm.

One day sie was invited to his place after school. Sie gladly accepted and joined him at his home, which was a rather large mansion. Sie was rather nervous being in such a fancy home. He smiled and showed hir to a room, where he worked on various potions and stuff.

He asked hir if sie would like to try one that would make hir lose all that extra weight sie had. Sie was nervous; sie did want to be thin like everyone else but was unsure how it would work. He reassured hir it would be quick and painless and it could always be undone.

Sie thought about it a moment and nodded and agreed to try.

Sie took it and he led hir to out to his room to wait for the potion to take effect. Soon enough it did, sie did start to loose weight, but something else was going on, sie could feel herself changing, growing taller, hir breasts grew much larger and heavier.

Hir fur faded away and hir spine strengthened to allow hir to carry such large scaly orbs. Hir body grew thicker and heavily muscled, sie quickly grew out of hir clothes leaving hir completely naked. Then suddenly a sharp pain swept through hir body as it began to change more, slowly sie became a full dragoness, no longer a herm. Strange thoughts filled her head, sie wanted to be mated and serve the male, serving him was all she could think of, pleasing him and bearing his young.

She looked in the mirror and was shocked at what she saw. She fainted and somehow she started reverting back to hir old form though hir dragon features where much more pronounced now. Sie woke up to find the dragon naked over hir grinning.

Sie felt something around hir neck and found a locked collar around hir neck, he told hir that while sie was out he put a curse on the collar and that if it was ever taken off sie would turn into that dragoness again. Sie blinked and was stunned, the dragon made advances toward hir telling hir how he was going to make hir his pet and make hir beg him to remove the collar. Sie panicked and when he got close enough sie kicked him real hard in a spot that left him on the floor, sie took this opportunity to escape and ran home.

Sie locked himself in hir room and cried himself to sleep. Eventually sie told hir parents and they were not happy at this or hir. They grounded hir for a long time. Ever since that day hir attitude changed, sie hated dragons and sie hated hir dragon heritage.

Sie was embarrassed to be part dragon. Sie hid hir wings under hir clothes. Sie wore all black clothing and became a goth, sie had hir face pierced multiple times to try to hide hir dragon features.

Several months later sie had finally started to get used to hir new life, and bigger dragon features. Sie had often lost hir temper and gone into a rage but never hurt anyone. Sie had been having some weird dreams lately, they involved the dragon that did this to hir.

He was in hir class and was always looking at hir and all sie could think about when sie saw him was getting hir revenge. The dreams were so vivid, the dragon was having his way with hir. Sie woke up in the middle of the night, though hir eyes where reptilian looking, sie had so much stress from the dream sie had gone into a rage while still asleep. Sie got up and set out to find the dragon, though sie was completely naked that didn't seem to affect hir. Sie went to the mansion and broke in. Sie hunted the dragon down and finally cornered him in his bedroom. He thought sie had come to give himself to him but sie never said anything, just stared him at and growled. He made an advance toward hir and sie pounced and started clawing and biting at him.

He never had a chance, sie sliced and mutilated him. The blood flew everywhere and by the morning he was dead and disemboweled. Sie passed out when hir rage finally ran out. sie woke up several hours later and smelt something odd, sie looked around and was shocked to see all the blood around the room, then se noticed what was left of the dragons body, sie was stunned, sie wanted to look away or run off but for some reason sie was drawn to the body. Sie wondered how sie got here and if sie did this. Suddenly sie felt a sharp pain running from hir head all the way down hir back, it was excruciatingly painful. Sie dropped to hir knees, long bonny spikes slowly pushed out from inside hir body, they hurt so much, they pushed through hir flesh and finally it was done. Sie walked out wobbly and looked in a mirror and was quite shocked to see how the large the spikes were, around 8 inches in hir head and quickly growing to a full foot in length running down hir back, to rows of spikes adorned hir head then merge to run down along hir spine.

Sie was so shocked that sie ran home and hoped hir parents would not see hir all covered in blood. It wasn't until sie was washing off all the blood that sie noticed something else, hir genders had changed somewhat, hir male parts where larger and all scaly looking just like the parts the dragon that cursed hir had. Hir female sex has also grown larger but sie was still the same short fat fur sie was before. Sie didn't know what was happening to hir. Sie stared at hir reflection in the mirror for ages, examining the spikes and hir larger parts.

Sie did a thorough check on hir entire body and the only other changes sie could find where hir nipples had become scaly, sie no longer had any soft flesh on hir body. Sie sighed and put on hir clothes listening to the spikes tear through the fabric.

Hir parents where worried about the spikes and sie never told them about the blood and the dragon, sie just said sie woke up with them. Fortunately hir larger parts are not really that noticeable, though it does leave a larger bulge but one has to be very observant to notice it.

The dragon did not tell hir though that even if sie never takes the collar off sie will slowly become more dragon until sie is a full dragon. Though it would take longer than hir normal life span it might make hir want to remove the collar.

A side effect of the transformation was sie now had a very nasty temper. When sie got mad enough hir eyes would turn reptilian gold and have a vertical slit until sie was finally able to calm down. During this time sie was wild and had no control over what sie did.