
A dazzling performance (Sylveon TF)

You're in the prepping area of the contest hall. Busy changing clothes for your performance.

You and your Kirlia have been preparing for this for a long time. Still you're nervous.

You have a light green ribbon for Kirlia. For yourself you have a white dress.

Matching the one Kirlia has. Though yours has pink accents.

As you finish dressing yourself and Kirlia. You notice another ribbon at the bottom of your bag.

The ribbon is pink in the middle with white on the outside.

There's a note lying next to it. It reads "For some extra luck!"

You smile. The store cashier must've put it in there to cheer you on.

It matches the rest of your outfit so you put it on.

Now both you and Kirlia match even better!

Soon you get called on stage. Yours is the first act. So it'll set a precedent for the others to match.

Both you and Kirlia nod to each other. This is going to be it.

You hope your routine is good enough to get you to the next round.

Entering the stage with Kirlia beside you. You swallow the lump in your throat when you see the audience.

That's a lot of people...

Kirlia however waves excitedly at them.

You reach the middle of the stage and start your performance.

Both of you start to dance. Graceful movements in symmetry. You're nervous at first, but you soon get into the familiar flow of dancing.

Letting you think about nothing but your own movements.

After some dance moves Kirlia uses Dazzling gleam for some spectacular sparkling lighting. Setting up the background for the rest of your performance.

Your ribbon glows in response to the move. Two ribbon-like feelers start to grow out from it.

They're tipped with light blue fur. A dark blue and pink stripe of fur just before the end. The rest is covered in pale cream fur.

You don't notice the changes. Too caught up in your performance. Even instinctively using your new feelers to accentuate your movements.

Kirlia gives you a worried glance. But they keep on their performance when they see you're not stopping either.

Pale cream fur starts growing all over your body. Body changing wherever it grows.

It grows over your arms towards your hands.

As it reaches your hands it turns to pink fur. Hands changing. Fingers merging to form three toes paws.

Your clothes change to fit your new form as you continue to change.

You strike a pose for a few seconds as your hands finish changing. Kirlia matches your pose.

Then both of you continue your dance routine.

The fur grows up towards your head. Face pushing out into a short muzzle. Nose shrinking into a small black dot.

Teeth changing into fangs. The sclera of your eyes turn a light blue. Pupil turning white.

You give a wink and a smile. Showing off your new fangs.

Kirlia copies your movements in symmetry with you. As they use their powers to make glitter come off of both of your eyes.

Hair turning into short pink fur.

Tufts of your original hairstyle still manage to stay, though shorter than usual.

Your ears move towards the top of your head. A ribbon growing from your left ear. Just like the one on your chest. It also grows feelers. You instinctively use these feelers as well.

Adding even more grace to your movements.

Glitter pops off of your ears as they grow longer. The insides get lined with dark blue fur, while the outside gets covered in pink fur.

Leaving you with most of your top half changed into a Sylveon.

Still you're too caught up in your performance to notice.

Kirlia however is getting more and more nervous. They still manage to keep up with you though. Even with your changes to the routine. Using their powers to accentuate your changes.

Making it look like it's all a part of your performance.

Your body shrinks as the pale cream fur grows down your body. Clothes shrinking with you.

A fluffy tail burst forth from your dress in a flash of glitters. It's covered in pink fur.

As the fur reaches your legs.

You and Kirlia jump towards each other.

In mid-air your legs finish changing. Legs and feet changing shape. Toes meeting the same fate as your fingers.

Your feet get covered in pink fur while your legs get covered in pale cream fur.

The structure of your body changes to fit walking on four legs.

You manage to land on all four of your paws. Both of you strike a pose as you land. Kirlia finishing off your performance with a final Dazzling gleam just before you landed.

After that both of you end with a bow. Marking the end of your performance.

The audience is silent for a while. Then a couple of people start to stand up and clap. More people join them. Until you get a standing ovation from the entire audience.

It seems like they think your changes were a part of the performance.

"Are you okay?" Kirlia whispers to you.

When you hear Kirlia speak you break out of the flow from your performance. The reality of the situation just now crashing onto you.