

---

A Night To Remember (Farigiraf (Hoodie) TF)

---

You're sitting on a bench in your favourite park.

Thinking about the new Pokémon that was just revealed.

It was Farigiraf the new evolution for Girafarig.

You really like both the design and idea of the tail and body learning to work together.

As you think about it you start feeling weak and sluggish. Your clothes start to disappear as your lower arms turn beige.

You're so lost in your thoughts you don't even realize that you're transforming.

Upper arms turning orange, your hands disappear as they slowly turn into cloth.

Legs shrinking down until they're nothing. Body turning dark brown with orange spots on your chest.

A zipper appears on the end of your chest. Complete with a path going upwards to open you up.

Your back growing soft dark brown spines tipped with beige.

Head growing four black antenna with bulbous tips. The rest of your head grows into a round black cowl.

Mouth growing large enough so someone can comfortably put it on.

Sharp looking teeth made of soft cloth grow onto your mouth. Three at the top and two on both sides.

Lastly your eyes turn round and yellow.

As your transformation into a Farigiraf hoodie finishes you start to notice it.

But for some reason you don't panic or feel surprised.

Your mind feels sluggish. Like you haven't slept for days. So you start to sleep. Or at least you think you are.

Dreaming of someone putting you on. and merging with you to become a Farigiraf.

Every time someone comes into your field of vision it's like your mind turns on again. And you excitingly wait for them to put you on.

Your cowl is slumped over. So you can only see the legs of other people passing by.

But most of them ignore you.

Going on with their day. Thinking that you belong to someone else.

And so you wait as day turns to night. Though for you it only feels like a couple of minutes have passed.

Only noticing the change in time when you see someone again.

The street lights are on. One of them conveniently shining its light onto you and the bench you are on.

You see someone again. This time they're approaching you!

They stand still for a couple of seconds in front of you.

You almost give up hope until you hear them say something.

"Shame someone forgot such a nice hoodie... Might as well try it on myself if no one's going to miss it."

Finally someone who wants to put you on!

They pick you up and put you on.

Putting their arms through your sleeves, closing your zipper and lastly putting on your cowl. Surrounding their head with yours.

As they finish putting you on. You start to hear their thoughts. 'It fits comfy enough. Maybe I'll ta-'

You interrupt their thoughts with your own excited giggling. You feel that they're confused so you speak up in their thoughts.

'I think we'll have lots of fun as roommates!' And you close your teeth. Completely covering their head.

'What who's that?!' They struggle, trying to take your cowl off. Their transformation is already beginning.

You merge with them. Cloth turning into fur.

Their neck lengthens, hands and feet turning into hooves.

'I'm the hoodie silly. Who else do you think it is?'

This answer leaves them even more confused.

Their arms and legs lengthen as well. They fall forwards onto all fours and you open your teeth to reveal their new Farigiraf head.

The transformation is over within a couple of seconds.

'What?! How?! Why?!' They yell angrily in their mind.

You can feel them being both angry and confused, but somewhere deep you also feel that they like this.

This will be a night to remember for the both of you.