The Winner:

As the day concludes, a voice announces that Legosi is the winner. He became ecstatic at the idea of meeting Haru once again, giving her a big, squishy hug. He was instructed to return to the center.

Once he returned, a room rose from the bottom like an elevator. The doors open to an ominous figure in a brightly lit room. Judging by how he's sitting, he must be the host. As much as Legosi wanted to rip him to shreds, he reluctantly entered the room to claim his prize. The host, calling himself "The Pufferfish", congratulated Legosi on his efforts on winning. Before he could obtain his prize, The Pufferfish wanted to show him a slideshow. It started with an image of Haru picking flowers, then a group of men steadily approaching her. Legosi was prepping for the worst, a sudden slash to the throat should be a decent revenge. He kept staring at the images, each man coming closer and closer, but then there was an image of Legosi's apartment. Haru was there, watching the game on a tv, cheering Legosi on. That was the last image. He smiled, at least he didn't need to explain the weight. The doors opened, Haru was sitting on a chair in the next room. Legosi launched up to embrace her, but ran into a seemingly indestructible glass wall. He then sees that Haru was strapped to the chair, struggling to get out when a man walks up to her. Legosi started to bang on the glass, but it was hopeless. The Pufferfish stood up, and said, "Such a fine catch you've led me to. I think she would be perfect for these games. Wouldn't you agree?" Legosi lunged at the deranged host, but was stopped by yet another glass wall. "It seems that we're at a disagreement..." The Pufferfish explains "... but I do have a solution. Either win another game, or test your might in a final battle, but you'll have to wait for others to win. If either of these quotas are met, then you and your girlfriend will be released.... Oh... yes and that other friend of yours." Despite his bloodlust, he reluctantly nods his head, hoping that this will end the nightmare for good.
