

So, at the end of this scooby vignette, we learn of father himmelby's Doomsday plan. No, somebody dressed up as the Doomsday monster to scare his daughter out of the church. When that didn't fly, Mr. Stuart... Gary Stuart, father of Lin Stuart, had to get rid of the monster costume, so he went back into the coffin, meaning to get undressed and set the masoleum on fire, but and... to take credit for luring the supposed monster back, but the door got locked. He got locked inside. He panicked. Yes...

So, the set up. This is a tiny little church that Lin Stuart joins on behalf of her boyfriend, Casey Winsor. The church is centered around the idea of deliverance from one Red Ram.

H - Lin and Stuart bond over their membership in the church

I - The church's faith supposedly unleashed a deamon from the doomsday door.

R - Lin and Stuart consult the preacher

O - Who doesn't know why the rapture just doesn't go ahead and happen.

R - They consult the Mystery Inc. Detective Doo.

T - Who catch sight of this Red Ram trying to burn down the church

R - Which is a successful endeavor

R - "Now we'll never be delivered."

E And Shaggy's all like, "You got that right, man."

C Because they trap the damn dude in a shed

O And reveal him to be Mr. Stuart

N Now Brother Barrymore preaches to a desolate congregation, but Lin and the other gal Casey, are happily wedded.

H - Lin and Casey

- Go to the Church of Divine Deliverance
- Against Papa Stuart's wishes
- Has a reputation in town for being more of a cult than a denomination

I - The church unleashes a demon from the nearby masoleum

- Which Daddy is somehow happy about, treats it like a wake up call.
- Also happy is the local ghosthunters, who are very near to being out of business
- And some gal who'd been hoping to date a demon instead of her measly twig boyfriend, because in her own words, "this fellow's quite a hunk."
 - And the boyfriend, Rodney Cain, is hiding a muscle suit in his closet.

R - They consult the preacher

- "Why isn't your pre-millinial tribulation calendar running on schedule?"

O - Whose knowledge is as dim as theirs.

- "I don't know! We should all be in heaven's waiting room by now, we aren't supposed to know what the Red Ram looks like."
- "Well, we sure do know," In slinks Monica Garner, all jazzed with the memory of the fiend's rippling muscle.

R-Enter the Scooby Dooers.

- Who meet and interview all of the suspects.
 - Evidence against daddy? He's taken a rather sweaty interests in Chili baths, which turn his skin read. Scoob and Shaggy take some tortilla hcips to this bath.
 - Once he gets wind that Casey and Linda are looking for a new religion, he... oh, he collects historical documents, digs up dirt on these people.
 - He's a big mountain of muscle like the red ram. And he leaves a paper trail of religions and keeps lists of their deal-breakers and such...
- So they attend a service and attempt to summon this thing.
 - And he does disrupt it.
 - Also... there's a skunk nest nearby.
 - Daphne figures the one to smell the most like a skunk is the culprit.
 - Rodney does, but it only turns out that just because of the gallons of cologne he wears to impress a fleeting Monica. He tries to make up for his lack of muscle by smelling like he just left the gym.

R - The retaliations would be all the dead ends,

- Rodney and the ghost hunters
- Led by Shirley Flo Trailmix, who regularly makes porcelain sacrifices to vacant 'Toys R' Uses. She has a bevy of costumes hoping to seduce the thing
- She has a long-suffering son who thinks that if she just saw one of these damned things

R - In resignation, Casey and Lin make plans to elope

- Although Velma suspects that it might be one of the church members aiming to give the faith a hint of credence.