

Life has been created from a gigantic cristal named "The Metal", which is born from the universe itself.
But after it created life and death, the Metal broke into small cristals pieces, who fell on Earth and on divers places in the universe.
Because of the energy contained in those cristals, they were instable and were seeking for some kind of shelter...bodies. Living beings.
But those cristals were so big, so powerful that any human - because humans were the first to be targetted- turned into a gigantic being, who soon were called "Metalheads."
Because of their size, and nature of birth, this new specie was first a threat to mankind.
However, in the year 2012, a human girl named Virginie found a cristal too. A smaller cristal...a part of the Metal's core. In opposite of the others cristals, this one didn't turn the girl into a blood thirsty giantess, but she stayed human and was now able to gain control over the Metalheads...

Virginie accepted her legacy and quest : reuniting the Metalheads together, travelling around the world for this aim, and fighting, with them, a new threat, even more dangerous than the Metalheads...The Metal itself.
