

Vore Thursday Quickie: Acquiring Traits

The rain was coming down hard as a houndoom ran into a cave to escape the weather. Dark clouds blocked out the sun, making it hard to see much outside let alone anything inside the cave. Barely able to see anything with the help of his orange fur, pads and internals emitting some light from their glow. Grabbing a branch from a tree near the cave, he made a fire. Taking off his soaking wet clothes, he curled up next to it and falling asleep.

"Rain, I found him," Xavier yelled out to the vaporeon. Looking over the sleeping houndoom as the rain continued to pour heavily. The jolteon growing impatient with his teammate, wanting to move along with their mission. "Just hurry up and do your thing with this guy, we've already got sidetracked too much due to your hunt for him."

"Calm down Sparky, we'll finish what we were set out to do." Rain walked in, looking over his prey, who looked so peaceful in his sleep. "So, can I have my fun with him first?"

Electricity sparked between his mane as he grew increasingly unamused with the vaporeon. "Don't call me that! Just hurry up and get it over with." Storming out quite literally as a lightning struck next to him upon walking out the cave. "I'll be outside, and I'm leaving with or without you in thirty minutes."

Startled awake as a couple more bolts of lightning came down each with a thunderous boom following shortly after. Noticing the tall vaporeon standing before him soon after, the houndoom stood up and got in a defensive stance. "Who are you and what do you want?"

"Calm down short stuff, you act almost as if you're on the run from something. Though you are right to worry as you have something I desire." Rain grinned before opening his mouth slightly to spray the fire pokemon with a dose of water, knocking him back. "Blaze the Arsonist, I have no desire to turn you in and will let you go if you do one thing for me."

This wasn't good and Blaze knew it, he has not eaten for quite sometime and was still sleep deprived. Then on top of all of that the vaporeon's water gun was quite the blow in his current state. "Fine, I will do this thing for you." He knew there was nothing he could do against the water type, so for now he'd have to go along with it.

Smirking, Rain made his way around to the backside of Blaze and ran a paw through the short black fur. "Good, you'll definitely help with my libido among other things. Bend over, pup." Rain said dominantly while pushing down on the houndoom's back. Feeling the dark pokemon resist, he put more of his weight into the push, forcing him to bend down.

While Rain was fit, his weight was much higher than he looked. The goo his body was made up of was so condensed that he weighed almost as much as a fifty foot tall macro. "Now Blaze, keep this up and I might have to be forceful." Pressing down as he said that, letting the houndoom feel the large weight atop his back just enough to make his legs quiver.

It was hard for him to believe just how heavy that paw felt against his back as it pressed down upon him. Soon collapsing onto his knees with his paws on the floor of the cave. Thighs and arms feeling like they might break from the weight pressing down onto him. "Stop, I'll obey." Splaying his ears as he was forced to submit to the vapoleon, moving his tail out of the way.

"Good boy," Rain said as another thunderbolt struck down in front of the cave, reminding him of his impatient teammate and what little time he had. 'Why did he have to stick me with you', the vapoleon thought to himself. Short on time, Rain melted his clothes back into the goo from which they came.

Grinding up against the short fur on the houndoom's ass, his shaft slid free of it's confines. Already slick from the gooey insides of his flesh, Rain forced six inches of his cock into that tight hole. Feeling the heat emitting from the fire pokemon's body as he wrapped his arms around the chest, hold his body against Blaze.

Holding back a whine as that shaft was forced into his ass roughly stretching out his tight unused hole. Blaze thought the first six inches would have been most of the vapoleon's shaft but was sorely mistaken, feeling yet another six or so inches push their way inside. Whimpering aloud now as the cock inside him seemed to grow in size, stretching him out roughly while making his stomach bulge.

One of the benefits about his body structure was that he could manipulate the size of his body at will. His shaft being the thing he increased in size the most often as there was nothing like feeling a prey's body around it. Normally he'd take it slower and make it more enjoyable for the both of them but he lacked the time. Not that it mattered anyway, the houndoom would soon just become a part of his body like all the others.

Pulling out slowly, the houndoom was able to relax for just a moment before Rain thrust back in hard and fast. Blaze's insides were hot and tight, even more so as the smaller male clenched around his shaft. Watching as the dark pokemon open his jaws to whimper again, Rain stretched out his arm and stuffed it down inside Blaze's mouth. Feeling the houndoom squirm underneath him as the goo from his arm went inside his prey's body.

Inside the goo was already starting to fuse with the flesh inside, slowly turning him into the thick substance. The process only helped by the thick pre leaking out into Blaze as his body slowly started to become numb inside from the conversion. Rain's knot spread that tight hole more, with each thrust faster and harder than the last. All but defenseless to the vapoleon using his body as he pleased and saw fit. What little weight Rain was pressing down onto him made it impossible to move away from him.

Increasing his size, Rain soon tripled his height while keeping his shaft relatively the same size as to not stretch the small pokemon too much. His back almost grazing over the ceiling of the cave, lifting the houndoom's hips up along with his shaft. Rain's sleek fur coat melting away into it's natural gooey state, dripping down onto Blaze and the floor around them.

Growing increasingly nervous as things shifted about, he looked up and realized just how large the vapoleon had become. Even with everything going on the houndoom couldn't help but find himself slightly aroused from all the attention and lack of control he had. Not even realizing how hard he was this whole time as his body continued to be savaged by the vapoleon.

Rain wanted to spend his time, tenderizing and having fun with his meal but the two lightning strikes outside the cave told him otherwise. Hurrying it up before he'd have to deal with Xavier's fury again like the last time he took too long on a meal. Pulling out a good foot and a half of his shaft before thrusting one last time, forcing his knot inside Blaze. Tugging on his knot a couple times, the tight flesh around it helped him hit his climax, unleashing a flood of cum into the dark pokemon.

Blaze's cries muffled by the goo in his muzzle as the cum swelled out his gut rapidly. Hitting his own climax once his belly looked like he had just eaten a small tauros, cum hitting his gut and against the ground. Going completely still in his exhausted state as the vapoleon continued to round out his body with the massive load.

Rolling over onto his side, Rain looked down eyeing Blaze's cum on the ground and grinned wide upon seeing it too glowed orange. He wanted to continue to enjoy the houndoom around his shaft but due to how little time he had, he decreased the size of his shaft to help him slip Blaze off of it. Holding Blaze against his body, he rolled onto his back, resting the houndoom atop of his gut.

Feeling quite small to the vapoleon as he easily fit on his belly and chest. Trying to get up, he felt something clinging to his body and like he was sinking. Looking down he noticed his belly sinking into the gooey flesh along with part of his legs and arms. "Hey, I did what you wanted now let me go!”

Looking down at the houndoom with a toothy grin, Rain pushed down on Blaze’s back with a finger making him sink a few more inches. “The sex was just for fun, no what I really require of you is your orange glow.” Before the fire pokemon could cry out, Rain touched his muzzle with a finger, letting some goo wrap around and bind it shut.

Thrashing only made him sink faster into the belly as it acted like quicksand, tugging and pulling on his body with every movement. Not that his own swollen gut was helping as it made getting away all the harder with how weighed down he was by it. His fire all but useless in this situation as the vapoleon’s natural resistance to it and the goo made nullified it.

Reaching down to rub over his prey, Rain continued to grin as the houndoom all but disappeared into his belly. Keeping the goo’s density on his stomach stay as low as possible to watch the houndoom press out against his gut. The flailing around inside made for some of the best bulges as Blaze tried to escape. While he could go out and get on his way as to not anger Xavier, the enjoyment of his meals final moments were more than worth it.

Inside the stomach it was damp, sticky and warm as Blaze tried to escape the same way he came in. His struggling weakened upon feeling his body start to soften whenever it touched the stomach walls as the goo converted him. It was at this point he realized he was doomed long before this as the cum and goo from that arm earlier were already converting his insides.

Upon feeling the struggling die down, Rain let out a relaxed sigh as the fresh goo was absorbed into his body and added to his mass. The goo on the cave floor returning to his body as he solidified his outer form and watched as the claws and pads on his paw started to turn orange. Spraying a bit of water onto the cave floor, Rain looked down into it seeing his eyes turn orange along with his fins and inside of his mouth. Once the color changes he desired were finished the glow started to appear, illuminating the cave. “This will do just fine.” Shrinking back down to his normal height, he walked back out into the rain.

“About time you finished, now hurry up we have a lot of ground to cover.” Xavier stood up from the rock he was sitting on and started to walk back towards the road. “So tell me, what special power did he have that made you track him down for so long?”

“Oh I just wanted his orange glow,” Rain said turning his head to the jolteon with his maw open to show it off.

Not all that amused by this Xavier sent a bolt of lightning straight down onto Rain.

“Seriously, we went to all that trouble for something as stupid as that? We could of finished our mission and been half way back to base by now!” Taking a moment to recover from the blow, the vaporeon quickly caught back up with the jolteon. Rain went to say something to Xavier only to see the electricity spark between the jolteon's fur and ears.