

Planet: Anrotra, home of Raptor and Becky AKA BEX.001

Erona is the main continent of 3 that cover the Planet of Anrotra. It is the largest and most advanced of the 3. It is home to the government of the planet, and the city of the gods. Where the people from all come to worship and give gifts to the 9 gods.

Cronth is the second largest of the continents. It is mostly residential and farm land. It is where Erona gets its produce and meats. Cronth is not as technological advance as Erona, but it houses most of the ruins of the ancient people, which is why it is protected just as much as the main land.

Dracgor is the smallest of the continents, but also the most feared. It houses all the warlocks, wizards, and anyone who was banished from the main lands. It is a hostile land covered in harsh deserts to the south, and freezing arctic conditions to the northern mountains. The island is also home to the dragons that the people fear.

Dragons are held to a high standard in the culture. They are powerful, but also dangerous and unpredictable, and more often or not, they use this power against the good of the people of Anrotra. The gods banished them to the island of Dracgor hundreds of years ago, thus the island was named after them.

The people of the planet have forgotten of the dragons, and now send criminals to the island, for the island is hard to get to and escape.

The people of the planet go by Anrotians. They are a race of humanoid beings, with similar features to humans. The difference is the pointy ears and abnormally long arms they have. It is not known why they evolved with long arms, but scientists on the planet believe it had something to do with living in the trees.

Anrotians are a very religious group of people, who listen to their leader or “president”, for he is held to the standards of the gods. But he listens to the gods themselves.

The gods of Anrotra are very vocal to their people, and 5 of the main 9 gods believe in the good of their people.

However, there are 4 gods who believe the planet is theirs, and the people should work for them. Or they play upon the people.

There are also “sub gods” who maintain aspects of life for the people of Anrotra.

One of these sub gods was Raptor. She maintained and guided people in their dreams.

But a war between the gods broke out, known as the “Black summer” during this time Raptor sided against her mother, the goddess of trickery and deceit. She then took Raptor’s powers away, along with other sub gods.

This became known as the Era of the Dreamless, for without Raptor the people could not dream.

The main gods, Mra and Troth gave the people back their dreams, but this broke the sanity of Raptor. In her lust for her powers back, she went to a mad scientist known as the Doctor, due to a freak accident, he froze her heart. Destroying any warmth in her heart that was left. This drove her mad, the gods could not let her harm their people, and banished her to the Island of Dracgor. It is not known what became of her after this.

During the year of the sun, a scientist that worked for the Government named Dr. Ivo skitzeo. He was to create a new weapon to use for the military. However he took the experiments to seriously, and thus the government cut funding. This angered him and he began projects in secret. He created Biologic nightmares, his first successful being the creature known as BEX. 001.

The government found out, raided his lab, and took the experiments, and locked him in jail. The experiments sat in storage for years, until Skitzeo broke out, and began to use the weapons to harm.

However he made BEX.001 to smart, and thus she turned of him working for the side of the government. Which is the only reason they won. They sent Skitzeo to the island of Dracgor.

(will add more later)