

((Note: This section takes place during Chapter 52.)

Bolz randomly wanders by the town. He stops for a moment and thinks, 'What could be inside this town?' He then walks into the town, poking his nose at everything.

He then hears a woman asking, "Hello there? Are you new here?"

((Note: This section takes place during Chapter 56.)

After giving a bit of tour of Windfall, Bolz and Drake landed at the front of Minerva's house. The electric knelt down so that the blonde can get off. She climbed off and said to herself, "Well that sure was an interesting day." Minerva looked to Bolz and said, "Hopefully, we can get to show you more of Windfall tomorrow. I'm thinking going to the City Hall would be a good place. They're teaching different kinds of magic classes over there like fire, ice and light. I took a water magic class over there." Ronan patted Drake's shoulder before the humans headed to the house. Drake went to lead Bolz to the backyard. The electric followed him willingly, and just sat down in the open and stared at the dark skies. How long has he been gone? Have they been taking care of the family business correctly? He sighed, he missed his home, but it looks like he has got to stay here for a while until he is able to find his way back.