

Riku, Kairi and the Soras ran through the streets until they came across a sight of the Heartless going around chasing screaming people. Cries and calls for help filled the atmosphere as the crisis went on. Riku said to his friends, "Okay, guys. We got to split and cover some ground everywhere."

"Right," they all nodded. They all went in separate ways as the original Sora went with Kairi to protect her as they fight. Merman!Sora went into the sea to battle the underwater heartless and shoot spells at the ones on land from a safe distance. Monster!Sora swung his keyblade down at a Neoshadow chasing a jewelry-wearing woman and then destroyed it in a few hits. An Earth Core in its sandy tower form threw a car at a fleeing couple, but Halloween!Sora was quick to cast Blizzard at the vehicle to knock it off its aerial track. Then he went to battle the earthy snake.

-----

Meanwhile at a bar, Sora's dad was hanging out with his buddies and bragging about his new sons. He continued, "I tell ya; it's a joy being a father of nine. I'm going to have a lot of fun fishing with them, playing sports and teaching them how to score chicks. It's going to be a blast!"

One guy was skeptical, saying, "You're making this up, aren't you?"

The father insisted, "Of course not; I'm telling the truth!"

The skeptical man said sarcastically, "Right... Well if it's real, then let me be eaten by monsters." Then suddenly, the door breaks down and Heartless step inside. Then men's eyes widened in surprise & fear as they gasped at the sudden intrusion of the black monsters. "Hey! I wasn't being serious!"

Another man asked, "What the heck is that?!"

When Heartless approached them, a third man shouted, "Get back!" They retreated away fearfully from them to the other side of the bar. The Heartless kept on closing in towards them.

The bartender asked the creatures, "Oh gosh, what do you want?" He poured a glass full of beer and offered, "Do you want a drink? There's plenty to go for everyone." He had hoped the refreshments would appease the monsters and keep them from harming him and everyone, but the Heartless were not deterred. He quickly went to his cash register and took out some money. He stammered, "No wait, maybe you want some munny, right? Who doesn't love munny?" The Heartless were still not appeased. With the creatures getting desperately near, the bartender had to resort to one last desperate attempt. He went behind Sora's dad, grabbed him by the shoulders and pushed the unwilling man forward as a peace offering. "You know what? Take this guy."

"What the?!" Sora's dad cried out in shock.

The bartender said, "You're all just hungry, right? Well eat him, so you don't have to eat us."

Sora's dad looked back at him and complained, "Hey! Don't make me a serving size for three." Then the Heartless leapt at the father, who screamed out in fright.

Fortunately at the nick of time, cub!Sora came in fast to knock away the creatures. Then cyber!Sora and cartoon!Sora finished them off. The digital boy asked the men, "Is everybody alright?"

The father smiled, "We are, sons." Then he beamed to his friends, "See? These are the boys I was telling you about. Told you, they were real."

The skeptical guy was shocked, "What the?! They almost look alike!" They were all stunned at how similar the clones were to the original.

One of the other men looks at cub!Sora and thought about the possibility of him happening. He imagined Sora's dad and a lioness, and then they... After getting the wrong idea, he looked at the father with disgust and grimaced, "Eww..."

---

The Heartless continued to wreak havoc all around the busy places of Destiny Islands' hub. Monster!Sora was escorting some frightened and crying kids to safety away from the chaos. To calm them down, he gave them a warm assurance, "Don't worry, the Heartless won't get to us. My friends are going to get rid of them."

Pirate!Sora swings and kills a Fluttering and then does the same to another that flies towards him. Then he sees a trio of Shadow Heartless going off somewhere. "Oh no you don't!" he yelled before he pursued them. The Shadows looked like they were going off to someplace, but where? The further they went, the more familiar the path became. Soon, it became apparent where the Shadows were going. Pirate!Sora realized, 'Oh no, that's my neighborhood!' Shortly afterwards, a gunshot was heard in the distance. Someone must have shot a Heartless. It turns out that someone was Riku's father when the Shadow Heartless got to Riku's estate and were greeted with bullets that dispersed them into vanishing dark clouds.

Riku's dad fired his rifle at his Heartless foes as he yelled, "Get off of my property!" Each of the dark creatures were disposed of by shots. Pirate!Sora felt calm, knowing that his friend's father can take care of himself and perhaps the whole neighborhood. He went back to where he was to continue eliminating the Heartless there.

---

The keybearers were doing a good job exterminating the Heartless. Even the police were in on it as they fired at the monsters to protect the public. Sora and Kairi destroyed the Heartless around them before the latter said, "We're doing a great job, Sora. There won't be any more Heartless here soon."

The boy agreed, "Yeah, we keep it and then-" Suddenly, a Demon Tower flew by and snatched up Kairi, who let out a startled scream. Turned around and saw them rising into the air. "Kairi!"

"Sora!" she shouted for him as her hand reached out as if he could take it from a long distance. The boy began to run after them to save his girlfriend, but the Demon Tower kept getting further and further away from him with its fast speed.

Along the way, some Heartless came upon Sora's path and he struck them as he yelled, "Out of my way!" Once they were taken care of, he resumed his pursuit and kept on going.

As the Demon Tower carried her up into the air, Kairi struggled to free herself of the Heartless horde's grips. "Ugh! Let go of me!" she yelled. Then she cast a light magic spell at the horde, which did a great deal of damage to it. The Demon Tower lost its grip on her, which would then cause the girl to start falling from the sky. She screamed in fright at how far away the ground was from her and how this could result in her death. But fortunately, a big black hand grabbed her, saving her from her great fall. But unfortunately, her rescuer turned out to be none other than a Darkside. "Ah!" she cried out at the giant Heartless. She struggled to free herself from its grip. The Darkside brought over its other hand over her. The girl looked up and saw the hand flat above her like it was ready to squish her into a pancake. The palm came down towards her and she flinched, bring her arms up in defense as she shrieked. But then a fireball flew into the hand and burned its center. The Darkside withdrew it in pain.

"Kairi!" Sora's voice called from below.

"Sora!" she called back happily.

It was Halloween!Sora who came to the rescue as he cast another spell, "Fire!" The Firaga took form of a fireball and hit the other hand. The Darkside let go of the girl and she started to fall until the vampire caught her safe in his arms.

"My hero!" Kairi praised.

Toy!Sora popped out of the pocket and smiled, "We love you too, Kairi."

The two bigger keybearers turned their attention to the Darkside and got ready to fight it. Halloween!Sora yelled at it, "You're going down!" The pair separated and each went to attack a hand; Halloween!Sora swinging at the left and Kairi striking the right. Toy!Sora cast spells at it from the safety of the pocket. The Darkside recoiled in pain before it started to shoot energy balls from its chest. "Watch out!" Halloween!Sora yelled before he ran out of the way of the falling balls. Kairi just used her barrier to protect herself. Then the Darkside slammed a fist down to open up a pool of darkness that spawned Shadows. The keybearers slew the Shadows as Toy!Sora used his magic to harm them.

After the Shadows were eliminated, they heard a call from behind, "Guys!" They saw the original Sora running to them with all of his other clones minus merman!Sora.

Halloween!Sora smiled, "Hey, you're here!"

The original replied, "Yep, and we're going to send this Heartless to Kingdom Come. Let's do it!" They all attacked Darkside. Cyber!Sora and Kairi struck the hands, monster!Sora strike raided the chest, and cartoon!Sora attacked between the legs, which caused the Darkside to clutch where it got hurt. Cub!Sora and Halloween!Sora struck the feet, making Heartless stagger backwards. Then pirate!Sora and the original one then cast Firaga and Thundaga at the head respectively. The Darkside recoiled and then fell backwards into the ocean after cub!Sora struck at its feet to trip it. Merman!Sora swam over to it and jumped up like a dolphin over its chest. Then he did a downward thrust and finished off the creature for good.

With the last of the Heartless gone, everybody cheered in victory. "We did it!" Sora shouted triumphantly.

Riku ran over to where they were and said, "Well, the Heartless are gone. Is everybody feeling alright?"

Sora nodded, "We sure are! But now I have just one question: how did the Heartless get here?"

Riku remembered something and said, "I think I have an idea. Follow me." They all followed him and took a raft over to the smaller island where they spent some of their time there since childhood. There, they made their way over to their secret cave. "You know that door that's always there?"

Pirate!Sora answered, "Yeah, why?"

After they went inside the cave, they discovered that the door was opened. Sora asked in surprise, "Wait! Who opened the door?"

Riku responded, "Don't know, but we need to close it now before any more Heartless get in." He went over to the door and closed it shut.

After they left the cave, a couple of little girls walking on the shore. One of them said, "I'm glad the monsters are gone."

The other one said, "Yeah, they were scary. I guess that's why they were locked up behind that door." There was the answer. Some kids had gotten into the secret place and opened the door.

Toy!Sora ranted, "I can't believe they found our secret place!"

Riku said, "Looks like we're going to have to seal it off. Come on, let's go look for something." So they gathered up some leaves and piled them in front of the entrance so that they can hide it.

Sora said, "At least we can still go in there by digging through the leaves."

Then they heard a sound of an engine nearby and looked to see a gummiship landing on the beach. The cockpit opened and Mickey, Donald and Goofy came out. Riku called, "King Mickey!"

Sora beamed, "Donald! Goofy!"

Goofy waved, "Heya fellers!"

The humans approached them and then Mickey asked, "Guys, we shall Heartless attacking the island. Is everyone alright?"

Merman!Sora smiled, "Of course we are! Everybody took out the Heartless, so they're gone now."

The king relaxed, "Well I'm glad that's over. Anyway, Donald has perfected the spell to make the clones vanish. I sure hope they weren't too much trouble here."

Sora smiled assuringly, "Not at all; we all got along perfectly well." The Soras all huddled up with the original having his arms around their shoulders.

Kairi rolled her eyes in mock displeasure, thinking, 'Liar.' She had not forgotten the fight and the chase.

"That's good," Mickey replied. "Well, I guess this is it for the clones. We're going to have to say 'goodbye' to them." Then he looked at the mage and told him, "Donald, do your thing."

"With pleasure!" the duck said. He waved his wand around, but Kairi stopped him.

"Wait!" she exclaimed. "Don't do it."

Everyone looks to her as Donald asks, "Huh, why?"

Kairi answered, "Well, I still want to go to that recreation center."

Monster!Sora asked, "You do?" The Soras were surprised at this.

The girl continued, "But I can't take all the Soras with me since it's only for couples. So, I got an idea." She told the mage, "Donald, can you clone me with your magic? I want Sora's clones to have dates of their own." Then she looked to Mickey for permission, "That's alright with you, is it, your majesty?"

The king responded, "Well I guess that's alright." Then he told his mage, "Donald, do your thing." Then Donald cast his cloning + transformation combo spell on Kairi and then many of her appeared in different varieties. There was cyber!Kairi, who had pink lines instead of the usual blue; cub!Kairi, who was a crimson lion cub; doll!Kairi, whose anatomy was that of a Barbie doll with limbs being able to move like a real person; monster!Kairi, who was a purple feathered monster with long red nails and a single horn on her head; maiden!Kairi who was wearing colonial-style clothing in form of a white, black & red dress with a red bandana wrapped around her head; mermaid!Kairi, whose bottom half was that of an orca tail; cartoon!Kairi, who was pretty much the same as herself except black-&-white and looked drawn in a rubber hose style; and Halloween!Kairi, who was a pink devil in red clothes.

Kairi smiled, "Now there's one for each of us, Sora." The Kairi clones went to their respective Soras. Cub!Kairi brushed her head against cub!Sora who took it gladly and cartoon!Kairi did a flirty wink at cartoon!Sora.

Halloween!Kairi flirted with Halloween!Sora, "Hi handsome!"

All the Soras were glad to have their own girlfriends as the original said, "Well that solves our problem. Why didn't we think of this before?"

Riku teased in a serious tone, "Because you're an idiot, Sora."

"Hey!" the boys yelled in mock anger. Riku, Mickey, Donald, Goofy and the Kairis all laughed and giggled.

The original Sora said, "Alright, laugh it up, you all. We got a date to go to, so see you all. The Disney characters flew back to their world as the islanders went back to the main island and the Soras & Kairis went to the recreation center.