

The Jan-June 2020 Vextenian Conflicts

The Jan-June 2020 Conflicts (alternatively known as the 2nd Vextenian Multiverse war) is a war between Vextenians, against Mystoria, PK-37 Pokemon, Mobian Resistance and its Avalician allies. The Pokemon Guild Militia also took part of this conflict as an uninvited party attacking against all sides when the Mystorians, PK-37 Pokemon, Mobian and Avalicians reached the Vexten planet.

Pre-war

How the war's origins came is when 15 Pokemon that came from the Vextenian Multiverse became stranded in Mystoria and PK-37, 34 Vexten Mobians stranded in Avalice and Mobius, during a space exploration expedition. During an attempted visitation to the planets, Mobius is friendly and agreed to bring them back.

But for Mystoria, PK-37 and Avalice, is a different story, due to the military presence of the escort by the Vextenian rescue teams, they mistaken it as some sort of colonization against their planet and assumed the Vextenians as colonists and their similar body shape as humans (or in Mobius' case as overlanders).

Despite this, they did rescue the stranded Vextenian Pokemon from their planets much to of the planets' chagrin.

At January 13...

They arrived again with peacekeepers and a small VCU escort to make it "less-threatening" for the 3 planets. The reason for this as a message of consideration and as a thank you for the Mystorians and PK-37 Pokemon, and Avalice for taking appreciative care of the stranded survivors.

The 1st Peacekeeper landed near Connivers Cavern mistaken it for a rendezvous point. The helicopters were attacked from wild Subsumes; the peacekeepers retreated with no casualties.

The peacekeeper decided to land near the Blanchbleue Pjanuri, they were met with a mutual confrontation by a small brigade led by Aurora Nightshade and Conrad Katsou.

Before anything will be settled. A single archer took the 1st shot of the war at the peacekeeper through the head, killing the peacekeeper almost instantly. Nothing more than an accident

At PK-37 was more on fear.

At Avalice is like Mystoria's shot of war, just an accident.

At Mobius, a peacekeeper was killed by a Resistance patrol mistaking the escort as robotic Eggman scouts.

A meeting was held at the Vextenian Commonwealth alongside the collaborative UN-Styled Vexten Organization. Many disagree that they think the attack was intentional. But this was contradicted by Eren Monday, a political senator who made the decision to have a war against the Mystorians and its PK-37 Allies, including all factions on Mobius and Avalice to avenge the fallen peacekeepers.

Meetings were held for 54 hours and it was ultimately decided that they should go to war.

This resulted the Vextenian Government to distance themselves from the Vexten Commonwealth.

Inner and outer planetary civilian reactions

Many spoke against the decision to go to war against the 3 multiverses and their parallels, blaming the Vextenian Commonwealth for it. Many feared and rumored that the Vextenian Commonwealth will start to colonize Mobius, Avalice, Mystoria, and PK-37, also another rumor that both sides will result in defeat after the war (similar to the Cold War fears on the Human Earth).

The PVX-10 Government however (controversially) supported this decision, calling Mystorians as "brutes", comparing them to the 5th-15th century Dark Ages from the Human Earth, and labelling PK-37 inhabitants as "genetical hypocrites" probably from their fear of humans despite the fact that they're living with Pokemon who were formerly humans (a senator also stated that they could've kick the "Ex-Humans" out their planets so they won't have that fear of humans in the first place).

Because of this, they think both different Pokemon multiverses intentionally killed the peacekeepers.

Reactions by the Vextenian Mobians about the decision to start a war against the 4 multiverses is very negative as well.

Commonwealth's Reciprocal Counterattack, and politically complicated matters

Despite the medium to heavy losses that Mystoria, PK-37, The Mobian Resistance, and the Avalice nations received.

The Vexten Commonwealth failed to destroy the retaliating forces and institute their power. However, they are planning to counterattack them, however this breaks the Vexten Organization's own laws of war.

This resulted in the Vexten Organization's own funded VCU to stop the counterattack of the Vexten Commonwealth.

At some time in April 2020. An unknown whistleblower alerted Mystoria, Mobius, PK-37, and Avalice about the Vexten Commonwealth's counterattack. This resulted in them to take their first step into the Vexten Planet and stop the Commonwealth.

When the Vexten Organizations took notice of this, they responded with truce and requested to ally and fight against the Commonwealth. Mobian and Avalice accepted, but PK-37 (much to their own chagrin), and Mystoria never accepted because of their assumed lack of trust. This resulted in the war in a 1v3v5 circumstance. (1: Vextenian Commonwealth. 3: Vexten Organization, Mobian Resistance, and Avalice. 5: PK-37, Blancbleue Pjanuri, Mount Tonitru, and Camp Ghiacciati)

During all of this. The obscure Pokemon Guild Militia began to rise from the sands and introduce themselves. Because of the presence of the 9 armies fighting each other, disgruntled them resulting in wage war against their assumed "colonists", for which the PGM fights against all sides.
