

Ever since I could remember what had happened to Zebah and I, we didn't know what was to become of us... The only way how we could be able to stay together, was to never leave each other, unless if it was an emergency... But one day, We found a portal to a whole new dimension, and we didn't know whether to go out there and see it for ourselves! The only way we could find out, was to go into the portal...
