

Idea

I see you in the night,

We meet every day.

I always follow you home.

I invade your dreams while you sleep

I lie next to you every morning.

You write about me, not knowing why.

I give you reason.

You shape me, and help me grow.

I give you strength.

I give you hope, you take my life.

While you earn a profit, I never complain.

I give you everything, never asking for thanks

I watch you age, and die, while I remain behind.

You fade with the passing of time, while I remain immortal.