

Passion

-----

Have you ever met someone who is truly passionate about something?

Have you watched as their eyes lit up and a smile spread across their face at just the mention of that which they hold most precious in their lives?

Have you watched as it transformed them before your eyes into someone who is almost unrecognizable?

Have you stopped to listen to them as they talk about it and about what it means to them personally?

Have you shared in their enthusiasm as they are once again overcome by the love they have for whatever it is that they like to do?

Many people have interests but few people have passions.
Few people have developed a love for something that is so strong they could not imagine living their lives without it.

Their passion drives them.
Consumes them.
Takes over them whenever it enters their lives and they are completely transformed by just the thought of it.

Have you ever just taken a second to appreciate a moment so simple and rare as a person who is living their passion?

--Written April 23rd, 2013