

The Revolution

Wouldn't it be beautiful if all animals could peacefully coexist,
while some paint and dance others play and sing.
If only such a world would exist,
then anger wouldn't be a thing.

It is known that some pray and others hide,
but do we really need to pick a side?
Just as the moose eats its grass,
the lion hunts for some gazelle ass.

Even though we all must eat,
maybe there is a better way to solve this problem.
We must not admit defeat
and not let other animals suffer.

A solution we must give
but it mustn't disrespect what we believe
To make a new blend, an artificial relief?
What a wonderful idea that science brings.

Now to proceed with the experimentation,
we must make haste
because these is a new creation.
We cannot let leftovers go to waste.

So we proceed to grab the lab rats,
quickly trying out our solution.
Just a little longer and we can face the facts
a little hunger doesn't mean prosecution.

Let us rise friends and take what is ours,
because those humans don't know the effect they produce.
They pollute and treat us wrong for hours,
that is something we must reduce!
