

Name: Joseph Madison.

Species: Human.

Sexuality: Bisexual. (While he doesn't mind having sex with males, he prefers females more.)

Preferred Role: Switch.

Age: 21.

Gender/Sex: Male.

Height: 5.6 ft. in.

Appearance: He's slim and dark-skinned, having a long, black hair with bangs covering his right eye. His eyes are purple, and the clothes he wears are usually a blue shirt and red shorts. Because of him being a human, he'll have human feet. His cock is big and humanoid, but his ass is averagely round (doesn't matter to Rammy since he'll fuck it either way, to which Joseph is aware of).

Abilities: He can predict anyone's movement with 100% accuracy, similar to predicting the future. It's the only kind of power he was born with, and it took him awhile to master it. Since it's his only power, he and his father went to take karate lessons to improve his self-defense skill during his middle school days.

Likes: Meditation, getting a massage, his friends (especially Aosyn and Silther), reading books and researching topics on opinions and viewpoints, crackers (any kinds), going to the beach, french fries, females, calling ladies "mommy" when being dommed by them, and brushing his hair.

Dislikes: His parents, his past jock buddies, his past in general, getting poked fun of for supporting someone for who they are, seeing Aosyn and Silther being harmed, ignorance, chocolate cake, waffles, his hair being a complete mess, and being alone.

Personality: A single young man that's calm and curious, striving to get a better understanding of the world around him. He admires the many differences in opinions and viewpoints someone has on things, loving to read books and researching topics relating to such. He likes meditating and getting a massage whenever he wants to relieve himself from stress after work (which is working at a five star restaurant fulltime), or when he wants to become one with tranquility. While he doesn't mind having sex, he can find it inconvenient at times when he wanted to do something else and a friend of his came out of the blue asking for it (sometimes he says yes, sometimes he says no). He doesn't particularly see himself as the feminine type of person (even continues to wear casual guy clothing), but during sex with a guy (or intersex with a cock), he admits to feeling entirely feminine and submissive there. While he doesn't mind guys (even the intersex ones), he has a huge fascination for women. He likes them for the curvy body figures, the chonky thighs (Millo fits this requirement fantastically to him), plump hips, big tits: It all rocks his dick till no end. Despite his preferences though, he doesn't mind having sex with a woman that lacks these features. He considers himself equal this way.

Background: He was once taught to be a certain way at a young age: Be masculine, dress manly, never cry, and most importantly be straight. He never thought about questioning it back then since he assumed it was the norm for a man. Joseph did encounter some male students in middle school doing the opposite of what he was taught. When he asked his parents about it, they told him that those students were nobodies that society will not care about. This naturally led him to becoming a jerk towards those not abiding by his mindset via not being their friends or avoiding them altogether. It wasn't until he met two individuals in high school that changed his entire worldview: Aosyn and Silther. Before he met them, he became a well known jock there, one of the popular kids the students idolize over. When he saw the two and how they were going against the gender norms in terms of appearance, he thought about getting to know them. He did it for the laughs, and told his jock buddies he had a plan on doing a heinous trick to them at prom. After chatting with the two from time to time, he grew attached to them, especially after having sexual relations with them (to which he found out he's bi). He liked them enough to feel bad for the big trick he planned. He tried to prevent the event from happening, but it was too late as the big trick made Aosyn and Silther's prom a living nightmare. His friendship with them teared down fast. Afterwards, he had a very rocky life upon graduating: He experienced endless arguments with his parents over their warped viewpoints, all of his jock buddies purposely ghosting him for his views, and many folks he knew from high school avoiding him for the poor treatment he gave them. It also took him a very long while to repair Aosyn and Silther's friendship. He felt bad for the two and wanted to make things right. He was also on a time limit with his parents since they wanted to kick him out. This was due to the fact he was constantly neglected by them. What hurt him the most was the time his father said this: "I could never love a son who chooses to not abide by his family's values." He cried for what felt like ages since. After moving out of his parents' home, he bought a house where he, Aosyn, and Silther live in. It was next to Rammy's home, which he ended up being good friends with. The three's bond had slowly grown back, Joseph feeling entirely relieved about it. Although, the damage he caused the two stressed him out even till this day, being one of the main reasons why he started meditating.