

Name: Noah Kitsu.

Species: Braixen (Anthro).

Sexuality: Pansexual.

Preferred Role: Submissive. (Bottom)

Age: 21.

Gender/Sex: Intersex (Male).

Height: 3.4 ft. in.

Appearance: He looks like the usual Braixen appearance, with a decent ass and consistently erecting nipples (which can be seen through any shirt he wears). He's quite short (below the average male height) and is one of the few Braixens to not be born with pawpads on his feet. His feet are a bit humanoid-like, with three toes that have white toeclaws. His eyes are colored green, and he wears only a gray tank top (which he got from Billy) to entice Rammy.

Abilities: Like all Braixens, he's able to use fire related elements such as the move Flamethrower. He also trained himself to use telekinesis since he was a Fennekin, allowing him to read minds and manipulate objects (he became one of the few Braixens to ever master his psychic abilities before even reaching his final evolution form). Unlike most Braixens, he has a very prehensile tail that changes its size and length. He uses his tail as an alternative for using specific Fire moves, due to the lacking a stick upon evolving.

Likes: Rammy's cock, Rammy, his friends in general, kind strangers, sex, rough sex, cum, staying warm, spicy food, spicy chicken, dancing, cocks in general, hugging someone, kissing someone, and reading books.

Dislikes: Being betrayed by those he grew attached to, getting harassed, being forced into a situation he's uncomfortable with, seeing his friends getting hurt (especially Rammy), the kidnappers that killed his parents, being discriminated, feeling trapped inside of a depressing state, singing (because it embarrasses him every time he does it), cold food, oatmeal, and someone hogging Rammy's cock.

Personality: He's a passionate and clever individual who enjoys being with his friends, especially Rammy. The sex he has with him gave him a whole new appreciation for dicks and sex in general, not to mention his open mindedness providing him all the hope he needs. When he's not trying to suck on Rammy's cock, he goes to read books, practice his telekinesis skills, and perform unique dance moves. Those are the hobbies he enjoys besides riding Rammy's rod. He also likes practicing his self-defense skills with Aosyn and Krimson, having the fights take place in the back of Rammy's home (this usually ends with him having a hot shower sex with the two, which he doesn't mind). Noah believes that living under Rammy's roof is the best thing to ever happen to him, developing a strong connection with him. He best describes it as "Loveable Lustification".

Background: "Slut. Whore. Thot. Tramp." Those were the very words Noah gotten used to during his times living in the streets. He used to live with his loving and caring parents as a Fennekin, feeling happy around them. Life was going well for him due to the amount of gifts his parents gave him when he did his chores and earning good grades in his school. He encountered some bullies in his Elementary school, but due to his parents comforting him, it didn't bother him too much. There was also the time one of his teachers, Rick Rogers, would boast about how unique and special he is. Noah didn't think much about it and took them as compliments, leading him to love and respect the teacher. It was until one day, the Fennekin was kidnapped by four unknown individuals in black clothing. He tried screaming for help but couldn't due to his mouth being ducktaped. What terrified him the most was seeing the death of his parents, blood surrounding them along with more black clothing individuals: Tears started streaming down his cheeks. One of the individuals was a brown fox he recognized as Rick Rogers, leading him to tear up even more. Soon he became a missing child of the two parents, and forced to live a new life as Rogers and other individual's play toy. He wasn't the only child forced into this lifestyle: There were others, leading him to believe that Rogers only told him he's special and unique because he's a target like all the others. He tried to escape many times, but failed and got punished for it. One time he almost escaped with one adult that didn't agreed with Rogers' sick dreams becoming a reality, but the adult was killed by Rogers himself. Noah slowly began to give in to the unknown organization's corruption and played along with it. This was when he started practicing his telekinesis skill at the age 11, wanting to do whatever he can to escape on his own. That was when he met Billy, a Mareep kid who also gotten dragged into this deluded mess. The two realized they have some things in common: Both being naturally born with a vagina, likes reading books, and dancing. After the two became close friends with each other, Noah let Billy in on his escape plan. Once he hit the age 16, he felt as though he's ready to escape and executed the plan. Him and Billy were secretly training each other this entire time, so they were able to handle some of Rogers' guards. Noah put his telekinesis skills to the test, becoming impressed by the results via creating a barrier that prevented the guards from ever reaching the two. And Billy even managed to evolve into a Flaaffy after a near death experience from one of the guards. The two also tried to help other minors escape with them. As soon as they're about to reach the exit, Noah gotten himself into a scenario where Rogers and his men surrounded him and the others. After being nearly defeated by him, Noah evolved into a Braixen and used his Flamethrower attack to burn Rogers alive. Billy electrocuted the rest of the guards via Discharge before all of the minors escaped the building, which took place in the middle of nowhere. This led Noah, Billy, and the others to wander aimlessly until they found a city up ahead. All of the minors ran towards the city without question. Billy was about to join them until he noticed Noah running into the forest instead. Curious, he followed him. Catching up, Billy asked why he didn't go to the city and Noah explained he wanted to return back to his home, which wasn't in the city they encountered. He also didn't want to risk being in the situation he had with Rogers again. Since then, the two wandered together in the forest, defending themselves when necessary. After making their way out, they entered into a new life in the streets: Where it wasn't much better than their imprisonment. The two had to constantly defend each other against those harming them and rely on sex to gain money. Once he turned 21, Noah became tired of the world he was living in and wished for it all to end, giving up on wanting to find his old home. His life wasn't looking too swell for awhile. Then one day when he and Billy were about to die to these anti-slut extremist groups, Rammy and his friends arrived in time to stop those groups. After the two received proper treatment from the hospital, Rammy and the others chat with them for a moment before wishing them farewell.

Billy told them that he and Noah don't have a place to stay in, to which Rammy offered them to stay at his place. The two hesitated, taking a long moment to respond before telling him they'll think about it. After some point in time, they consider staying with Rammy and lived with him since. It took some time for Noah to warm up to him and the others, especially after being weirded out by Rammy's love for sex. He noticed how kind Rammy was at accepting his request to not have sex with him, appreciating him a little because of it. After getting to know Rammy and his friends, becoming fascinated by their open mindedness, he got close to them. Soon, he set his paranoia aside and decided to have sex with Rammy. Him and Billy. Since then, his liking towards Rammy has grown into loving, wanting to be with him at all times. Rammy preferred the relationship to friends with benefits, to which Noah happily abide by. Noah and Billy then told Rammy and the others about their past, receiving many comforts and hugs afterwards. Noah was proud to live his third new life due to how much better it is.
