

Name: Naomi Valley.

Species: Human.

Sexuality: Pansexual.

Preferred Role: Switch.

Age: 22.

Gender/Sex: Female.

Height: 5.6 ft. in.

Appearance: She's a relatively slim, average sized lady with freckles on her face. She has a red hair long that reaches past her shoulders, blue eyes, and pink fingernails and toenails on her hands and feet. She has fairly decent sized breasts (about C cups) with some freckles being littered on them, pale skin, and has a decently sized behind (which also has some freckles on them). Her clothing of choice is usually a gray plain shirt with blue shorts. She wears white shoes when around the public, but wears none when she's at her cabin or around her friends. She also wears red glasses.

Abilities: She has no special powers nor abilities due to being born as a regular human. The only thing she can rely on is her thinking skill, using it to help her solve any scenarios. She's also good at aiming any of the guns she owns: Handguns, shotguns, revolvers, you name them all. She even owns a katana that she got as a gift from her deceased friend.

Likes: Her horse Avalon Rivera, horse cock, cock and balls, pussy, sex in general, Rammy and his friends, watching horse race, turkey (especially covered in gravy), holding someone's hand, booping Avalon's snout, jogging, and her trusty revolver.

Dislikes: Someone harming her horse, summer, wildfire, hamburgers, burritos, sleeping (sometimes struggle to do so since she wants to work on other things), and basketball.

Personality: She's energetic, enthusiastic, and above all else—HORNY. Naomi's smart woman that knows what she wants and will do her best to achieve it. She has a great thinking skill, allowing her to usually be the source of advice her friends go to whenever they're stuck on something. She has a fascination for horse racing along with sex, plenty of it. She gets down and dirty with her friends, including her trusty horse partner, Avalon. The bond she formed with her horse led her to understanding her, furthering the two's relationship in a positive manner. Naomi prefers to not slack off on her tasks due to the stress she gets from not having anything done, hence why she isn't fond of sleeping.

Background: Naomi's backstory was mainly a decent one: Having been raised by a loving family, to which she also met her lifetime pet and partner, Avalon. She did decently in school, leading her finding out about her expert thinking skill. Her past wasn't always sunshine and rainbow though as she lost a close friend of hers' to a deadly illness, feeling down about it since she was about to graduate high school with her. Before her friend passed away, Naomi was gifted a katana by her due to the friend believing that she could use it for good while also knowing that she likes weapons too. Since then, Naomi cherished the gift, even after moving out of her parents' home and living by herself in Center Nookwill. Her horse tagged along, too: This being where the two developed their bonds further, sexual wise included. Naomi thought about traveling around at one point, eventually leading her to Soothern Creek when a sex event happened. Naomi knew she liked sex, but she never knew she adores it until she met Rammy and his buddies: Leading her to crave for it whenever she gets the chance to.
