As a female: Theo can sometimes be found as a female lioness. The build is basically the same, with a small belly, but she stands at five foot eight, has brown hair down past the base of her tail and is somewhat top heavy, around an EE cup on her frame. She goes by Thea Winters.

Other Forms: Theo has been known to also spend time as a rabbit (Lop-eared, standing about 5'5" same weight and colors) and a shire draft horse (feral, same colors, standing 6.5 feet at the shoulder)

Other Abilities: He has the ability to extend his tail much longer than normal, up to 150 feet in length. At any length his tail is completely flexible and under his full control.

Muck Description: Theo stands relaxed with his arms across his chest. His mane is large and jet black, filling out around his shoulders and down his back. It contrasts with the bright golden color of his fur. A pair of glasses are perched on his large muzzle, framing his blue eyes. Each ear is pierced, and has a single purple stone.

His clothing is casual, a pair of denim shorts that come down to his knees on his digitigrade legs, and a grey T- shirt that hangs relaxed over his frame, highlighting his slight belly. It hangs past the top of his shorts, and over the top of his tail. The tuft of fur at the tip of his long swaying tail is the same jet black as his mane, as is the tufts of fur on his elbows, which peek out just below his shirt sleeves. On his right wrist is a bracelet made up of gold, silver and bronze. His feet look powerful, big and heavy, his toes spread wide as he stands barefoot on the ground.
