

Character Name: Brandi

Species: Snow Leopard

Gender: Female

Hair Color: Silver, shoulder length.

Eye Color: Blue

Height: 5'4"

Weight: 110ish

Age: 27

Feet: Plantigrade

Build: Slim and athletic with a lot of curves and wide hips, though has only a AA-Chest, pretty much flat enough that she doesn't need to wear a bra.

Distinguishing features: Flat chested along with the snow leopard markings.

Jewelry: Whatever fits her outfit at the time.

Clothing: When clubbing, anything that lets her show off her body at the time. She has enough outfits to look good day or night and in pretty much any situation. Attention is always a perk. At work she wears business casual.

Personality: Outgoing would be an understatement to describe Brandi. She loves everyone and it happy to show it. She hugs her friends and kisses anyone she can get away with. Otherwise she's a very smart lady having graduated at the top of her with a minor in art (mostly focusing on welding).

While on the weekends she might come off as a party girl, during the week is every inch of a professional working late even when it means she has to stay home from the club.

As for her job, she is an account. She doesn't work on normal accounting, but in reconstruction and forensics. She can take any jumbled mess of books and records and tell you exactly where every cent went, no matter when it might be hidden.

History: She wasn't always flat like she is now, she used to be a very full EE-cup back in the day, at least until her senior year in college. She and her boyfriend had gotten into a prank war over the summer and things escalated on both sides. Eventually he arrange for a curse to shrink her breasts for the weekend in retaliation for her last curse which made him a bit to busty for a guy.

Brandi found that she rather liked being flat chested, and not just because it helped her back. After the spell wore off she decided to much rather stay flat then be busty and found a permanent version of the spell. She's never looked back, and if anything has had more luck with the guys.

Contact Information:

- E-mail: theolionwinters@gmail.com

