

- Request - A Giant Rubber Glaceon Appears

Niray-Chan was a hardworking and enthusiastic Pokémon trainer with black and green hair. She had already won 4 gym badges and had caught over a dozen Pokémon. So she was super confident about her journey to become a Pokémon master. While she was in the woods she spotted a small smug looking Pokémon, it was a wild Glaceon! "What luck! Maybe I can catch it while it's off guard." She thought to her self. Just as she was about to throw her lucky shot, the Glaceon looked at her with an egotistical glare and quickly ran off.

"Darn it!" She immediately ran after it but the Pokémon didn't leave a very traceable trail for her to follow. She ran deeper and deeper into the forest in hopes of catching the smug little Creature. After nearly 30 minutes of searching, she saw something very strange, a red bubble that was just floating by a large tree. Curious she walked around the giant tree and saw even more bubbles in a weird looking meadow. It had rubber looking flowers bright green grass with a water colored tint, and a shiny blue mass in the middle. She walked through the strange bright field, admiring the bright shiny colors emanating from the foliage. Then she heard a loud squeak from the middle of the field. The shiny blue mass started to move and stood up on four legs. It was another Glaceon, but it was huge! Plus its skin was incredibly shiny, glistening in the morning sun as if it was made of rubber.

A giant Glaceon!?! With all her might she threw the Pokeball at the giant Pokémon, but when it made contact it just bounced off the Glaceon's skin with a soft "Poomf," and the ball just rolled back to her feet. "What?" She said in confusion. The Glaceon then puffed up its cheeks and shot a clear bubble out of its mouth. It quickly inflated becoming as big as she was, before she could react it hit her square in the chest. It then slipped under her and bounced her high in the air, and she fell on her back against the squishy bubble like a bean bag chair. The Glaceon smiled admiring its handy work.

She was a bit dazed, but she quickly regained her composure. "Ok, let's try that again." She said. She reached down to her belt to grab another ball, but she couldn't find them. She looked down through the bubble to see her Pokeballs lying on the ground. "The collision must have knocked them off my belt." She thought to herself. She tried to climb off the bubble, but she found that she couldn't sit up. She did her best to get off the bubble, but it kept shifting its shape to keep her in the center. She began to thrash and kick but to no avail. "Come ON! What's with this thing!" She yelled. Any movement that she made would instantly be accommodated by the bubble, to the point where she was nearly out of breath. The Glaceon just smirked in amusement, watching its captive wriggle around fruitlessly. When she stopped moving to catch her breath the Glaceon leaned its head in and began to nuzzle Niray-Chan. "H-hey now! Be gentle!" She said as it tickled her body with its giant muzzle. She began to giggle like a child as the rubber Pokémon nuzzled her. P-please! Pfff stop! Hehehe...! I'm ticklish!"

Then the Glaceon concentrated all of its nuzzling between her legs. "OH!" She gasped as the giant rubber Pokémon rubbed its nose against her crotch. But just as she began to process what was going on, it pulled its muzzle back as if to tease her. Niray-Chan quickly got over her pleasure and looked at the giant Glaceon. "You're... a friendly Pokémon aren't you?" She said nervously. It maintained its mischievous smirk. Then it blew another bubble, and began to lazily float towards Niray-Chan. "Another one?" She put her arms out to try and stop the bubble, but it just pushed her back with even greater force, pressing her arms to her sides.

The bubbles wrapped around her like tight sheets of latex, squeezing her tighter and tighter like a vacuum. The comfy squishy bubbles were now smothering her, robbing her of air. Normally something like this would've been fun and easeful, but she couldn't breathe! She tried to yell for help but the bubbles reduced her cries into muffled whimpers. And just when she thought the bubbles would pop on their own... "Flomp!" Both of the bubbles combined into one, releasing her from their squishy embrace. She landed in her new soft prison as it bounced her a few times before coming to a stop. She tried to get up on her knees, still dazed from the squeezing. She looked around at her new space, it didn't take her long to figure out what had just happened. A huge smile appeared on her face as she began to burst with excitement.

"I'm inside a bubble! This is amazing!" She began to giggle and put her hands on the inner surface of the bubble feeling the plastic-like film. She stretched, caressed, and rolled around the soft squishy bubble, she had never done something so fun in her entire life. How often would anyone get a chance like this? To play around in a soft soapy sphere, carried by a gentle wind. She played around for a few more minutes but then she began to realize that there was something strange about the bubble... It wouldn't pop! She stopped playing and proceeded to dig her nails into her soft inflatable prison. "Come on! Break!" She said. But no matter how hard she tried, her fingers only slipped and squeaked inside the soft bubbly membrane. Just then she noticed a shadow had eclipsed her bubble. She looked up to see the giant rubber Glaceon looming over her inflatable prison.

"Ummm... I'm finished now, you can let me out..." She said. The Glaceon just stared at her and slowly put on a mischievous looking grin. Niray-Chan Shivered, it didn't look like the Glaceon had any plans of releasing her. "Alright... I understand... I'm sorry I tried to catch you, could you please let me out of this bubble?" The Pokémon responded by puffing up its cheeks and shooting a small bubble out of its mouth. The shot slipped through the bubble that she was already trapped in, and lodged itself in her mouth. Before she knew what hit her the bubble quickly inflated, instantly gagging her. "Mmmmmph!?" Shocked and confused she desperately tried to remove the bubble from her mouth, but it was no good, it was already too large to pull out. The Glaceon smiled and decided that its pray was ready.

It took the bubble in its maw and began to wrap its lips around it. Mmmmmph!!!! Niray-Chans muffled scream echoed throughout the bubble. She began to pound on the rubber prison as her window of escape closed around it. The Glaceon continued to envelop the bubble in its mouth as Niray-Chan continued banging and screaming with all her might, until finally, the Glaceon sealed its lips tightly around the sphere. Then with a soft “POOF!” it finally popped, landing Niray-Chan on the puffy rubber tongue of her captor. It was so smooth and slippery she couldn’t get any leverage to stand up. Then with a loud gulp, she found herself squished between the walls of its mouth and sucked into the Pokémon’s rubber throat. The balloon gullet massaged every inch of her body as she was pushed further and further inside the latex monster. She moaned into her gag as she was pressed and rubbed from every angle. It felt like she was being squeezed by a bunch of balloons. But just when she began to enjoy the squeezing she landed in the roomie rubber belly of her new captor.

It was rather dark, only illuminated by a dim light that shined through the latex walls of her prison. She first tried to tear her way out of its belly, but it was thick and tough like PVC rubber. She pulled and tugged with all her might but to no avail, it just snapped back with a soft “Boing”. She then tried to dislodge her gag, but it was perfectly stuck inside her mouth. When she realized it was fruitless, she laid down on the rubber stomach floor and breathed a deep sigh as she felt the latex floor squished beneath her. “What’s going to happen to me now...?” She thought to herself.

Suddenly her gag once again began to inflate, expanding out of her mouth like bubblegum. “Mmmmmm?” She muffled. It kept getting bigger and bigger until it was almost the size of her head, she tried poking it but despite its soft texture, it was even stronger than rubber. It then pressed itself against her face as if it was trying to swallow her. She tried to pull it off but it quickly enveloped her entire face and swallowed her head. It felt like an inflatable mask, with the inner layer tightly squeezing her head, the opaque surface blocking her vision with the color red. With her oxygen cut off she began to panic, she pushed the bubble with all her might but to no avail, it tightly hugged her face like a clingy lover, refusing to budge an inch. Then it began to pulsate, and made a strange sound like some kind of pump. “fsssss... fsssss... fsssss...” Suddenly she could breathe again, it was like the hood was feeding her air.

But then something else alarming happened, she felt the balloon creeping down her neck with each puff. The red bubble proceeded by inflating further, wrapping around her shoulders and slowly began taking her arms, folding around them like sleeves. It was like the bubble was forming a tight inflatable suit around her. She tried tearing at the sleeves but it was far too slippery for her to get a grip on. The bubble then reached down to her chest and squeezed, she whimpered into the gag as it felt like the bubble was groping her. Finally, the bubble reached her elbows, which locked her arms to her sides. Within seconds it reached her hands and folded up around them, sealing them in round fingerless sleeves. From the belly up she looked like a red rubber doll, she began to fruitlessly kick her legs around, as they were the only parts of her that were still free. The bubble continued pumping air into itself, while simultaneously squeezing Niray-Chan's body.

Then her bubble began folding around her crotch, she let out a loud muffled moan in her bubble hood, as the membrane wrapped itself between her legs. The bubble was now traveling down her legs, and she could no longer kick. She stopped struggling and tried to calm down, and came to the realization that she couldn't stop the bubble from engulfing her entire body. She tried to think of a strategy, but she couldn't even use her hands as the pressure kept her fingers stationary. Out of breath and stamina, her legs remained still as the bubble slowly crawled down to her ankles and finally sealed up around her feet, completely trapping her in a red rubbery bubble suit. Niray-Chan's entire body was now being rhythmically squeezed by her bubbly confinement suit as it continued pumping air for her to breathe.

She did her best to think of something while enduring the immense pleasure that the rubber bubble suit gave her. It didn't take long for her to realize that the bubble had no seams or openings that made escape possible, she was thoroughly trapped. "God, how did I get myself into this?" She thought to her self. "If I get out of this giant rubber Glaceon alive... I swear I'll quit catching Pokémon, and pursue something... safer." She lay there motionless in the Glaceon's rubber belly, unable to do anything but moan in pleasure. She found it increasingly more difficult to concentrate as the pressure seem to increase on her sensitive areas. "There's... Ooh... no way out of this-mmmm...! Rubber Pokémon... is there?" She thought to herself. The pleasure increased with every passing second, squeezing her most private areas more vigorously overtime, causing her to lose focus. She then began to feel different, her skin began to tingle as if her limbs were falling sleep. Then she began to feel lighter as if the weight in her body was dissipating. She felt like her body was being transformed. She slowly began to drift off, but right when she thought she was going to lose consciousness ... "POP!!!"

She found herself laying on the grass hyperventilating, the gag no longer lodged in her mouth. She breathed a sigh of relief but with no clue of what had just happened. She looked around frantically but the giant rubber Pokémon was no longer in sight. "Was that a dream?" She thought to her self. Just then she heard a high pitched yelp, she looked over to see that it was the Glaceon from before. It looked startled and confused, and ran off without looking back. Whatever happened to that Pokémon she tried to catch, had almost happened to her as well. She then followed suit, she ran out of the forest and never returned.

Ever since that day she quit Pokémon training and became a breeder instead. But then strange articles came up in the papers that read: "Trainers and their Pokémon go missing in woods." "Strange Sightings of Giant Shiny Looking Pokémon Possibly Connected."