

So I have been thinking on this idea for a little bit now, but here is what I came up with this:

My Bird fursona is a Toucan (well a Toco Toucan) who is fairly tall at 6'3 and weighs 180 pounds, even though he is fairly chubby with a noticeable belly. His feathers and appearance are standard color, blue eyes with an orange and red colored beak with a black tip on the end, his hands are winged as he can fly with them.

His name isn't Payton Augustine Quartz Marzipan (my wolf fursona's name) but it's Eilo Jose Marmalade the third.

Eilo is brazilian as he speaks English some spanish and portaguse, he is shy and rather quiet but is a very nice person once you get to know him, he is also just as innocent as he looks.

He wears a grey tank top, black shorts and some sandals that are also grey, he doesn't have very long hair even though it's a bit bushy and soft.

Eilo loves eating fruits and berries and is commonly seen eating strawberries which are his favorite, as he also smells like it.

Unlike my wolf fursona, he has no sort of powers whatsoever, as he is normal in every way, but he does have a persona but it's yet to be revealed.