-Artemis has the moonstone wildcard power having the same abilities (besides Justin) as the other wolves, he prefers to fight with his strength, and his own grass powers to fight with. He has a magic howl attack and a dark green shield as that's his aura's color.

-Victor uses his strength to both lift heavy things and also be very fast, while also being able to jump very high. He did not have a magic aura at first, but was soon gained when he was training with artemis, and his aura is Orange. He also uses special gauntlets he now summons to grapple with.

-Akira has the ability to lift things with his mind, while also being able to be pretty creative with his powers. He enchants a traditional fan to fight with he can also interact with dreams and see into the future. However he tends to act like a Navigator and rarely puts himself out with the others in a fight. His future vision power only works for the probability of something happening and when he closes his eyes and focuses on something he has a white aura.

-Kage his powers are nearly identical to Akira except that he has more darker magic and control over shadows, he can't see in the future but can go into a shadow ghost form. He also can phase through walls in his shadow form and also can bring others into shadows or through things. He has a dark powered whip for his weapon with a black magic aura.

-Magma has a red magic aura and can control fire, and has the heatproof power, having the ability to withstand extreme heat. He can shoot fire blasts from his hands and feet with a special fire howl attack he uses a lava lance to fight with.

- Bodhi has an ice white aura, and can control ice (and some degree of water) he is immune to the cold, he can only create ice from the air around him not break it or melt it into water. He uses an ice sword to fight and he can walk on water by freezing the top of it for a quick moment.

-Colton has a silver aura tied to him, as he has the special fur hardening power and the ability to see in the dark. He uses a similar fighting style to Victor, he uses his fists and makes them become hard as steel to fight with. He can use his hands if he punches fast enough to dig; he is very strong though.

-Storm he has a dark blue aura tied to him, as he can control water, breathe and swim very fast underwater as well. He uses a water spear to fight with and he also can summon water wings to fly with.

-Zephyr he has a thunder yellow aura tied to him, as he can control electricity, and walk on clouds. He can summon electric wings to fly with and is the fastest flyer on the team he uses an electric bow and arrow to fight with as he can act like a sniper from the air.

-Solaris has a yellow aura attached to him, like his brother he shares the moonstone wildcard power, but prefers to fight with psychic powers and uses a battle axe to fight with.

-Dakota has a red aura and has the same powers as magma but lacks the heatproof power, however the only difference between the two is that he is not immune to immense heat. He uses duo fire swords to fight with.

-Justin he does not have magic, but fights with a small armory of magic weapons with blasters, grappling hooks ect. He prefers to use a short rage single pawed blaster.

All the wolves beside Justin have a unique magic howl attack that they learned from Artemis, all of the wolves have paw pads on their hands and feet (with Artemis and Solaris having identical ones). They also all have claws that aren't as sharp as they seem and are always visible while they are sheathed but they can un-sheath them as more defensive than offensive.
