

The kings of gaia had participated in a beast fighting tournament, along with Mr Saikou showing up as a surprise challenger, and once the dust had settled King shield was the winner even though he is the oldest of all the kings participating.

Mr Saikou had then developed a friendly rivalry with King Moonstone just for fun after he became more relaxed and having fun after learning from his son.

The free for all tournament was over, and the people of gaia were really starting to become more closer to their cross world cross kingdom counterparts.