

Cole was bored one night yet again home alone, so he asked to see if his teammates could come over and play video games.

Not even five seconds later He saw Leo, Sylvester and Willson ready with the food, snacks and video games.

The Boys had fun playing hyper thrash brothers ultimate all night while eating snacks and food and having a fun time.

However the more surprising thing was Willson winning the whole thing and Leo joking that he was the "hyper thrash brothers ultimate champion" among the group.

After it was like three in the morning the guys then showered and had a sleepover at Cole's place and headed back home in the morning once they had woken up and said their goodbyes for the day.