

The first night George had slept in his dorm, he began to have a strange dream.

He had woken up in a dream like state as he sees a group of other people, an Ape with a Dark blue outline, a Polar bear with an white outline, a Red Panda with a red outline, A Rhino with a silver outline, A Doberman with a light blue outline, and an mouse with a Dark green outline.

The Polar Bear and the Ape had familiar outlines to him as he was glowing yellow a bit as a ghost-like outline of a Coyote was seen as well standing behind him.

He also had future-like visions of adventures with this group of people with a mirror he was entering before the dream ended.

George had woken up in a cold sweat, and later had met up with two of his older childhood friends.

Winter and Edward the outlines of the polar bear and Ape respectively from the dream seem to be hinting at something but it was too early for George to notice anything from his end.
