

Back in the real world George ended up with two more roommates Winter and Edward and some time later at about 11 pm at night they entered into the mirror dream world.

Callum had welcomed them back into the dream world and said that there is someone who would like to meet them.

Callum then had taken them to the dream world castle where They had met up with the Queen and a few of the royal children of the dream world.

Queen Angelica Hart, with her kids Theodore Katelin and Anglia the family of magical wolves.

The Queen explains that her realm has fallen into disarray because her husband, the King of this realm has become evil.

She explains that her husband, the King of nightmares formerly King Hart of dreams has launched a plan to take over the dream world and the real world as the two are tied to each other.

She says that it's a selfish task to say but, she wants to give the role of heros and guardians of the dream world.

George Winter and Edward looked at each other as Callum was timidly looking at them.

"Queen Angelica... We would be honored to help you out and everyone else along the way"

George had kneeled along with Callum Winter and Edward, afterwards in the real world the three returned back to the real world to sleep.
