

The team dealing with the minor setback from earlier had decided to train again to get better control of their powers to defend themselves better just in case they were overpowered by those eight magic users from before.

They had began to get cryptic messages that are along the lines of-

"Don't Save anyone"

"You are making the wrong choice"

"One of your family members is next if you keep it up"

Despite these messages they kept ongoing with their training even though George was afraid on the inside of what could happen next.
