

Another week another missing classmate this time: It's Tyler Kobayashi, a skinny red panda who stands at 5'7 with brown eyes and red hair.

He is from the Kobayashi family of artists. He is the next one in line to be successful art wise, but has developed a really bad art block and his motivation is too skewed to keep going.

He is known to be the extroverted and friendly type, being optimistic as well but can get frustrated when put down over and over again.

He was rescued from the Museum of Envy, a new area with 15 floors to it, and he donned a new appearance along with new powers as well.

He wears a Red Crop top hoodie with a white undershirt under it, with Red shorts with white leggings under it with red sandals. The Whole outfit has bird motifs. Uses a bow to fight with a red aura and flaming aura tied to him.

The team now has 9 members counting Callum making them having a slight numbers advantage vs their darker adversaries.