

The team then headed into the Manor and fought their way through it to reach Callum at the very top.

"Callum!"

"...you all came to save me... but run my shadow will"

Callum's shadow, a black ghost had appeared in front of the team with massive arms with a horrifying face.

"Appear"

"Let's go, team!"

After a hard battle they won the battle as the cage that Callum was in had fallen over with him in it.

Then With a Grey aura surrounding him with the ghost type element as well something happened.

His Green fur had faded away to show it was brown for a moment before fading back to green and his extended claws and weapons had appeared as well.

"i... Remember who i am i never figured my shadow would have appeared to take me"

(This is his character bio below this)

Full Name: Kendric "Callum" Smith

Before his death and spirit going to the dream world, he was in an abusive family and was put into a coma before passing. After regaining his memories he wants to live again and help the team navigate the world and after gaining his magic he lives in the real world once again with George and the others.

He appears as a dark green coyote with a skinless outfit in the dream world but a brown coyote with green eyes and brown fur in the real world.

But his personality is timid and fearful but had warmed up to the team over time.
