

Some time later Kendric had "moved" into the dorms with George and the others and everyone had seemed to be getting along with each other.

"..."

"What's Up George?"

"It's Just that.... I'm having doubts about everything we have been though at this point"

"We have been saving people and ourselves left and right but I'm doubting that we are doing the right thing"

"..."

"If it wasn't for you we would not be here now... or worst dead" Kendric had pointed that out as the others nodded in agreement.

George had then started to cry a bit over the stress he had been pent up at this point in the story as everyone had rushed to hug him close.

"Thanks... everyone"