

The hart royal family of the new reformed dream world with both sides combined both with the light and the dark grant the guardians of dreams the ability to enter the dream world through any mirror on earth.

They also said they were welcome to come back at any time for some more magic dream world fun.

It was also revealed that queen hart was effectively weaker compared to her husband before balance was restored and their children were half-light and half dark power wise.

(And with that the story of the Guardians of Dreams is Over)