

Brian Tyler Elmwood, as aforementioned is the Main protagonist of this story, and the events will mainly revolve around him and his struggles.

His story begins about a Decade before, he did make a brief cameo at a few beast fighting tournaments before the accident that unfortunately had killed his parents in a car crash in Opal City. From the scrap that had flown out, Brian gained a scar on his right eye in which over time he had grown out his hair to cover it out of embarrassment.

Growing up he struggled with some ptsd, Anxiety and Depression which could have taken the form of another identity of it's own but that could be his fragile young mind messing with him.

Matthew Elmwood the eldest with Edward, and Jessie and James helped look after each other after their parents passed. The brothers had lived in the Valor kingdom capital doing their own respective jobs from their very cramped apartment. Brian worked his tail off at the first community college he went to and transferred to SIU also known as Sunstone Island University a newer school on one of the Opal Islands where other Universities are at to become a counselor.

His motivations are that he wants to help others than himself, and guide them to the light at the end of the tunnel to live happy and healthy lives.

The things to also note about are-

The Elmwood's grandparents on both sides of their parents' family had been helping them out as much as they could with aunts, uncles and many cousins.

Lucas & Elizabeth Elmwood- The late parents of the Elmwood brothers and were 40 years old at the time of their deaths on December 1st 2014.
