

Brian had made the trip with his brothers to help him move into the new dorm he will be staying at to finish out his college career.

It was there he would meet his roommates: Aaron, Felix, Zack, Freddie, Jerney, Finn, Milo and Cedric.

He would have developed a crush on Alexandria, a girl younger than him living in the same dorm building, a Rivalry with Bryce the same age as him also competing for her attention.

Besides the faculty he was introduced to Eva, a niece to Kage (and Niece to Akira by extension) who, unknown to Brian had a crush on him instantly but developed over the span of a few weeks before classes started.

Once Brian was all moved in and had introduced himself this exchange happened-

"Hey brian?" Cedric had got his attention.

"What is it Cedric?"

"Would you mind telling us why your hair is like that?"

The others were also wondering as he sighed explained everything and his scar and the reason his hair was like that.

"I'm so sorry... I never knew that"

"Well... if i was getting to know you guys I figured I should have explained that at some point"
