

So Darius had woken up the next day, taking control of Brian's body but the only noticeable difference between the two personalities are-

Green eyed Moose, with horns that are somewhat dull, Red eye moose with horns that are a bit more sharper than normal.

Darius uses red magic (which is actually an insect based magic on Gaia now), and Brian uses green magic but uses grass based powers.

But for those who are used to a certain brown moose no one really noticed the difference except for Eva as she had a crush on Brian and not Darius but grew suspicious of this.

Meanwhile Brian is still trapped inside the fractured prison that remains with him seeing everything through his own eyes and is plotting a way to escape and regain control somehow.

Darius for a week had lived Brian's life, and no one grew suspicious of him except Eva but the Elmwood brothers also grew quietly suspicious when "Brian" did not video call them weekly.