

Alexandria had then started to date Bryce officially and the two somewhat polar opposites had been a perfect match for each other, and Darius controlling Brian's body was perfectly okay with this knowing that Brian on the inside was tearing up on the inside literally.

That night while Darius was asleep Brian had attempted to gain control but Darius had just summoned Brian to another area of his brain, a viewing deck of sorts.

"You know I was surprised you even bothered to show your face again after your little "coup" against me"

"This is my body, you have no right to control it!"

"Actually I do, in this world it is eat or be eaten Predators vs Prey and I happen to be the Predator.."

Brian attempted to punch Darius but Darius caught the punch and subdued him in magic shackles.

"Once I learn from king Artemis how to get rid of unwanted magic you will be gone for good bye Brian see you never..."

The next morning Darius woke up and acted like nothing happened as Brian was still struggling pretty badly to break free.