

Lucas Thomas and Edward have then entered the realm with a thud.

The three had seen a room that looked like to be the inner workings of a grandfather clock, with many gears, but with locked old doors but with one open with another portal leading somewhere.

There was also a time stone in its pedestal that had unlocked the first door.

The three then began to look around, to find a room of the past kings and queens of the Charon family, the room to do a "return to the past " and evidence that someone was here before as there are footsteps everywhere almost like someone has been here before.
