

The Guardians had then decided to take on the next Labyrinth which was overall military themed.

"Wait... this power..."

Theodore had sensed something and had begun to use his powers.

"I am sensing more than one stone here..."

"So... that means-"

"Then there is more than one boss monster here we have to take down..."

Lucas had said that with some hesitation in his voice as he was aware of the fact that they need more manpower for the bosses.

As time went on the team had introduced two new members to the group.

Duncan and Tobais had been brought in for more help after they became aware of the time realm.

After working through the realm, and after another boss fight.

The trio of three bosses in the forms of tanks were all taken down each holding a timestone.

And with that the gate to the next labyrinth was opened but the team had gone back home for now.
