

One week later Lucas got some proper rest from his most recent nightmare.

When the team had entered the time realm they noticed that things felt a lot more alive in the hub area. It also felt more vibrant as well.

Lucas placed the 10th time stone in the time panel and had unlocked the next labyrinth.

The next labyrinth seemed to have a hell-like theme.

Theo had sensed that this place ran about 13 floors and sensed only one stone.

The team now more in sync with each other had taken down the boss, which just so happened to be Cerberus the famous 3 headed dog holding the 11th stone.

"One more and we will be able to explore the final labyrinth..."
