

So every year during june for two weeks there is a great conference of sorts that's held on one of the islands of Opal city, and this year the moonstone family was holding it.

The wolves had gone out to the site to where the conference (which was more of a Carnival) was set up at. This conference in question is an event that announces latest breakthroughs in technology and science and life on gaia.

Justin had said that the opal corporation was going to be attending with many others and mentioned that the Saikou and Windbook families are going to be here as well as they were absent last year for their own reasons.
