

Storm had approached his parents and siblings about what had happened during the 1st season, and he was fully aware what he did was wrong about what he did with the others. But they forgave him as he did save Gaia from being destroyed (again in recent memory), and that maybe from now on he may just act a bit smarter instead of being his normal jokester/slow person self.